introduction.

The United States has an actual history of people being dehumanized, tortured, slaughtered, and displaced for the creation of the 1776 symbolism rampant today. These things still continue today. This book is about that history and how it ties in to today's society. It also is about the corporate state's psychological warfare to keep its citizens either accepting of that history...or even...proud of it.

Reform is just another way for the established authority to maintain that obscene authority with consent. Authority always requires consent. When it loses consent, then authority requires force. Control their language, control their reality. What is the authority authorizing? Who, and for what means/ends? Resource competition among the poor? Could you imagine yourself being a part of the 'out' group? Dehumanized like the ones you call criminals and felons? There were 88,899 federal rules and regulations put in place between 1995 and 2016. Someone has to enforce that garbage. The United States prison 'industry' generates more revenue than the combined GDP of 133 countries. Arrests are incentivized because of career advancement and the disgusting fact that prison contracts often require 90-100% bed occupancy. That means that at all times, those beds have to be full. Where are they going to get the bodies? From your votes.

If you vote, you don't care about others.
Begging wealthy authority to force their will on your peers with other members of the populous that sport badges representing authority(more on symbolism later).

If you vote, you don't care about others.

You care about you.

§ 0

Hunger, thirst, and shelter from the elements. We all need sustenance to exist. Where is your food going to come from? Not from you, that's for sure. You are born into an established dystopian equilibrium where the wealthy control the resources. You have to get in with their corporate gang if you want to wet your beak. Slaving for a logo/gang is not an existence. The gangs often refuse people. Do you sincerely think that an entire society existing this way with police enforcers could ever be 'crime' free, let alone healthy? If you do, that's called delusion, doctrine, and if you introspect - you can see there is some form of irrational symbolism you are bound to. You're not going to like the way you look. I guarantee it. That's why most hold to their garbage symbolism. It is intellectually defective but emotionally easier to stonewall themselves. I've done it, we all have and do. There are things I don't currently want to face. I can justify my prescriptions of corporate chemicals, but at some point I still have to accept responsibility for my own existence like I constantly am telling baseheads to do. Street or corporate chemicals, we are all junkies, even corporate executives. There are corporate products you have been conditioned to believe you cannot exist without. You will spend most of your waking existence as a number runner for a corporate gang/agency/entity/org to get those corporate products. Most corporate products are unnecessary. Most products are destructive to the planet. Manufacturing & mining also destroy the individual. The greater good is often used by tyrants to rally the mentally susceptible against someone who usually isn't the problem. If your individual is unhealthy, your society is unhealthy. That is the flaw in placing society(an abstract concept) over the individual. The individual is society. If you abandon them, what does that say about you and your society of greater good? While you are gossiping about what some rich, pasty, apathetic asshole said about another one, people are suffering severely in your community. The United States has a much more prosperous and prestigious record of murder, rape, robbery, numbers, kidnapping, extortion, trafficking, witness tampering, and terrorism than the proposed criminals and terrorists do. Imagine being a police officer. You get to enforce a depraved system, then some of the victims of it call you a 'hero' for your violence. Then the politicians(judges and district attorneys) protect you from having to answer for any of it. There is always an excuse, always a reason. Any intelligent, corporate boss is going to try to protect the footsoldiers that do his dirt. The judges and district attorneys are not going to go arrest anyone themselves. Without the police, they would have no employment either. A gang fulfilling their interests at the expense of anyone that isn't them. A corporate mafia hiding behind bald eagles, blue stripes, and blind loyalty.

- * guess who gets to enforce them?

A mafia boss is going to protect his empire before he protects his soldier, unless his soldier is necessary for the empire to continue successfully. The vast number of available soldiers(employees) makes them expendable. A farmer is going to give a minimum shit about his livestock. Care has been marketed like every other tangible thing and abstract concept. So care cuts into profit. Care is an expense. They give a minimum shit. A grocer doesn't want spoiled produce. Spoiled produce is bad socially and financially for its profit process. Spoiled produce gets sent to a different process, perpetuating the system. "This tomato has a spot on it, throw it out. We cannot have some victim of the system we give handouts to, sue us for a spot on a tomato." It goes to the lower class citizens through a different, insulated process. This is the system enforced by the Blue Stripe Bandits. 40% of edible food is thrown away and there are more empty homes than homeless. It gets even worse:

$43 Billion spent on movies.

$250 Billion spent on fashion.

$11.8 Billion spent on bottled water.

$200 Billion spent on fast food.

$99 Billion generated from sex trafficking.

$82.5 Billion given to churches.

18,000 golf courses in the united states which is 2 Million acres that could be used for farmland/biofuels.

All of this while people complain about trivial problems based on preference. Human convenience is destruction. People should not complain about things until they take personal responsibility for their contribution to any of these things.

$4.3 Trillion spent on healthcare ~18% of the american GDP. A large chunk of that [~$378 Billion] is spent on prescription drugs.

The pharmaceutical, medical, and psychiatric industries are best of friends exploiting the corporate laboratory of an existence that is your 'life' for everything they possibly can. Within twisted wording of the lawbooks they authored or bought, of course. You cannot beat the system unless you are on top and you cannot get on top by going against it. It is a catch-22. We are all tethered to the system by the Constitution, which is of course drafted around consolidation of power/wealth. You cannot escape it. Many worship it. Many who don't respect it, praise it when it works in their favor. A subjectively 'good' police officer justifies police depravity across the board. A few dollars made justifies the entire pyramid scheme in the eyes of that same scratch-off ticket participant of the state numbers racket. Hope exploited. A slow, unjust, degradation of spirit. So the industrial, war machine can steamroll. If you comply, you perpetuate the system. If you resist, you're 'crazy'. That is a perfect setup master has for social control and division. Everyone fears everyone and calls those who don't fear others insane. If the system representatives, enforcers, and exploitees live in fear, then why not do away with the current construct entirely? There can be no genuine altruism behind a system that exploits basic needs and seeks justice against those impacted by it. Especially one like ours that is mandatory, just because we were born here. Another boundary on the globe's injustices do not validate the injustices of your own by comparison. The 'lesser of two evils' line is a common fallacy used to justify this bullshit. I'm on repeat sometimes but I'll rerun again - we made WiFi from things found outside but we can't make sure everyone eats, doesn't thirst, has medical care, and protection from the elements. That is not intelligent or evolved. That is degenerate and exploitative. At least you have your sports teams, celebrities, and your instant, packaged tastes. Look at you go! Look at your hat. Shirt. Shoes. Logos. I find it strange that logos is an appeal to logic, reason, and/or proof. None of which a corporation exhibits. They can't do that or they won't stay in profit long. Irrational thought is the name of the game. Rational people do not spend their grueling earned federal debt credits on flashy, unnecessary shit. Irrational people love doing that shit. It consumes them though they believe they are doing the consuming or they don't even realize it.

§ 1

When I say crime, I mean actual crime. Actions by one entity that cause genuine suffering to another. I do not mean the current, arbitrary wording by rich politicians that keep the lower classes divided. I mean things that hurt. Home invasions, actual rapes, homicides, kidnappings. Two consenting adults in a fist fight? No. An adult in his home doing lines of cocaine with no non-users, children, or involuntary people present? No. The people forcing the poor to manufacture that cocaine in toxic environments? Yes. A person not paying the state before driving their own vehicle? No. A person hurts an animal that isn't attacking them? Yes. Under this nationalist, american regime people often get more prison time for a gram of meth than you do for supergluing a dog's eyelids shut or forcing your dick into a child's body. Actual crime. Things that hurt. This is going to be automatically rejected at first but just read me out - crime stops with compassion, forgiveness, and understanding.

Compassion - If someone steals $20 from you, are you really going to call the police? Why? So you can have their family pay the state, Securus, and Tiger/Aramark crazy money? That's really fair isn't it? Stealing isn't okay but also, it wouldn't be a thing if we weren't forced to compete for resources would it? Do you call the police so you can label someone a thief with a badge, seal, and paperwork backing it? I don't think a person should be stolen from. I also don't think the police should be pocket checking peasants for potatoes:

<https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/18/981>

<https://www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/18/981>

Forgiveness - Justice is a lucrative misnomer for state sanctioned vengeance. Every time someone seeks revenge, the state calls it justice and the Treasury calls it business. If you forgive them that $20 theft and priceless violation of resource competition rules, you'll find that not only do you not rage at them, but you might feel better having helped someone who needed it. If someone is struggling internally(within reason) and you beat them up for how they behave because of that internal warfare, that is not going to help the person grow and develop. Is that not that ultimate goal for individuals and the abstract concept we call society? Or is it to get as much material shit as you can, stiff arm anyone else, tackle them, call foul, and anything else to 'win' the 'never-ending game'? Is it cry about your McDonald's order with the same intensity as if the cashier broke into your house? Is it trade unnecessary shit with people and mass consume until you die?

Understanding - In order to have compassion and forgive, it helps to understand. The state profits heavily in revenue and social order every single time someone calls the boots for something trivial and small. Handle your own disputes. The amount of money you spend on garbage, is it not worth $200 to find out someone is struggling and you can help them? I could argue that is cheap to know to not let someone back into your home, and refusing them entrance is justified. However, that is not how I think or feel. If someone stole from me, I am going to figure out why. That is most important. That means that I have somehow made them afraid of asking for something that is severe enough to risk the social relationship. They could also be ridiculously prideful and it isn't my fault, but I am so outspoken on society being constructed around unnecessary shit, that if they are in debt for unnecessary shit, that might make them not ask me and instead feel their only option is to steal from me. This is assuming I have $200 on hand which is never the case.

This triumvirate of dismantling corporate/state control is realistic, if enough people were to adopt it and reject begging a politician to have their enforcers send the person you don't like through the system. Getting them to abandon their gang symbolism to care for strangers they have been taught to fear, though? Difficult. Not impossible, therefore realistic. It might take even more death carried out by their masters behind their symbolism.

1492-1776

Before 1492 there were 60.5 million Native Americans prior to European contact. Between 1492 and 1600(108 years for the slow) 90% of the population was eradicated. People are proud of it though. They even celebrate it with a special day. I don't understand how humans have survived the planet this long without self-destruction. It's one thing to commit suicide, it's another to force someone else to. The dehumanization I see today, I can only imagine the level of barbarity back then because it was openly acceptable to hate those different than you. Fear has always been the leash used by rulers. Hate someone and you will allow anything to happen to them. Rulers usually have unrestrained power. Divine right of kings. Humans as gods. Say that to yourself slowly, several times. Humans as gods. Someone that profits from your exploitation tells you they love you, you believe them, then you worship them for exploiting you. Someone that lives in a mansion while you struggle to not have your sardine can stolen by a bank or kicked out of it by your slumlord. There are zero rational people that worship other humans or imaginary friends. Look at how people deify their favorite politicians, athletes, and entertainers. Feudalism violently eases into capitalism with the rise of nation-states. Corporations.

Feudalism is garbage but that does not make capitalism or socialism or communism acceptable. You cannot have a successful system where the lower classes are used as cheap labor. It never works out. Ever. Except for the oligarchs and plutocrats in the meantime. During this time, the people that people like you labeled a criminal, were transported to america from england as slaves. To do the hard work, the daily work, the garbage and sanitation, cook and clean. To fight wars. To die for the luxury and convenience of master. Also during this time, lower class people arrived by boat and were concentrated in certain areas, the major cities. Philly and New York City. Forced to compete for resources. If you throw a group of people into a small space and then make them compete for resources - that is a tried and true formula for violence, fear, depravity, rage, gangs, etc. Which is...drumroll...exactly what happened. In 1767, citizens formed the first american vigilante group, which attacked and punished gang members. They were unsuccessful as a gang smashing out gangs. This is a great concept except for what happens when this vigilante group becomes the dominant gang? More authority, more symbolism, and more socially dominating behavior most likely. "Our way or the highway!" and "You're with us and comply or you're a traitor!" is how it usually goes. I never group up. Ever. Even if I know I am going to die. Cowards depend on others to protect them. If I lose against more than 1 person I still won. I had courage where they did not. You'll find that most predators go for easy prey. They don't want a challenge, they want an easy score. If everyone stood strong even when alone, predators would be much, much more apprehensive about targeting those walking alone. Not everyone is a fighter but if grandma carries a .32, grandma becomes ~32% less of a target with a chance of actually preventing the crime instead of asking the state to come profit from it afterwards. I don't like guns. Mala fide I know(lesser of two evils in this case) yet given the choice I would much rather grandma have a handgun than the corporate, militant, nationalist, jackboot, revenue generating, policy enforcers. Grandma is not stealing from people for the state with a badge, then a gun if her badge fails. Grandma is not jumping people in the street. Problem with that bogus choice given, is that grandma enforces the system by begging master(voting). Every time grandma begs master, she helps enforce the system that creates the predators she is asking master to protect her from, with those corporate enforcers. Would gangs even exist if basic needs were accounted for and fear was not the powerhouse of control it is among resource competing slaves? Gangs have to have enemies or they're just a treehouse club. Backyardigan derivatives. Each gang thinks they have the correct way. Correct way for what, though? How to exist in master's corporate construct that exploits every aspect of their existence? Me, my, mine. The socially accepted maxim is my family over yours. Us versus them. Social division. Master's will be done.

Existentially, you can't own land, but we stole this area from them with behavior that is still rampant today. Native Americans were slaughtered. Tortured. Dehumanized. Displaced. Enslaved. Executed. Most Americans are infuriatingly apathetic:

Frankenweenie is not the minority. The majority of society is like him and will justify their garbage any way they possibly can, so that they may continue wallowing in their filth with the least amount of disrupt possible. Frankenbeans is repeating programming from 300 years ago in this case, but thousands of years ago in other cases. His mental hard drive is defective. He'll swear yours is though. How can you reason with someone like Frankincheeks? You can't because he, and the conditioned degenerates like him, take everything you say and either co-opt it or keep turning it around like a Muslim working his way through his dinner plate. Have you ever heard one of your masters apologize for a genocide? It is...so...empty. Disrespectful for certain. You can't apologize for a massacre. Even when he tried, master only apologized because the slaves were currently making a big deal about it. Master apologized so they went back to work. Until the next injustice. Master monitors the current, ever fluctuating zeitgeist, and adapts to it. Responds to it. Alters their media presentation. This is the information age. Ignorance is a choice. You either try to learn history and keep it from happening, or you try to justify your current luxuries and conveniences. If you had no luxuries or conveniences, would you be so loving of your nation-state-god that so graciously bestows them upon you once you have met the required amount of physical labor? I submit that you would not. I submit that were you to abandon your dependency on most unnecessary things, you too would be resisting master. You cannot 'build' a nation in an already inhabited area, knowing humans are territorial and compete for resources, without violence and injustice. That is not suggesting the violence is not injustice. If you give packs of men permission to go conquer, what do depraved men do that are bound by their primitive instincts and taught that those of a different skin color are property, enemy, and to be dehumanized? Rape and enslave. If your company were raiding a Native American village and you tried to protect the villagers from your own men...what do you think would happen to you? Same thing that happened to these decent humans:

---

Gang members that remove their patches get X'd out. Police only like snitches to tell on other people. When you spotlight their moral crimes, you become a traitor to their gang whether you are a member of it or not. If your compaymen were more violent than you, and you tried to stop them from raping Native American village women and children - you would have been X'd out. Groups do not like challengers especially from within their own ranks. Resist the dominant gang and you usually die. The punishment for apostasy is usually death. "How dare you turn your back on us, after all the things we manipulated you with(did for you)!" I like to think that someone under Chivington's command(following orders is not absolution of guilt), protected as many as he could and hopefully put down some of his 'own' 'men'. I doubt it.

1776-1900

If you celebrate '1776' or 'Independence Day' or 'Patriots Day' then you are who I spoke of in the introduction. Holidays to help you bond with master and his mobilized national community. If I call someone a traitor it is never in reference to this imaginary boundary on the planet. It is in reference to their humanity, to people, to life, to themselves. You cannot claim you want what is best for others and then hide behind a flag, song, and hand salute. You can try but just know, we see you for what you are: Someone that wants the world their master's way and if people don't want it that way also, they are traitors that should be put to death. This is what spawned from the 1776 Declaration of "We own our own corporation with our own slaves now, so fuck off, Queen!" Independence. 3,500 black people were kidnapped from Africa or the Caribbean and sent to america each year. To work, or go die in wars. America was built on genocide and forced labor. Even after this boundary was conquered and proclaimed to be 'free', it still took almost 100 years for people to say, "Wait, unless people steal(refer to § 1) forced labor is wrong..." Even this 13th Amendment provides the wealthy a loophole to use other humans as forced, cheap labor. Label them criminals. Villain comes from a synonym of villager. Villein. Common peasant. Control their language, control their reality. If the suits & boots can label someone a criminal, the other villeins will permit the dehumanization of their fellow castemates. Casketmates. Socially trapped basketcases. Defending masters mandates. Defending masters property. Defending master's wealth. Have you ever seen a fast food cashier try to stop the thief that has a gun, from taking massa's money? They're stupid. Not valiant. Not courageous. Stupid. And a traitor to their fellow laborers. If the thief was going to shoot a fellow laborer, or even an uncle tom(manager, assissant manager), then it becomes valiant. If they tried to stop them from stealing money from master...mental defectiveness. If I see this type of situation, I am not going to stop the person unless they are going to hurt someone. Even uncle toms are victims of massa's conditioning. Try not to hate them. I struggle with this severely. Slaves that weren't physically/mentally strong enough to fight would passively resist by breaking tools, equipment, etc. Just because you can't fight the enforcers doesn't mean you can't fight. Filing court/criminal motions against other poor/middle class people does nothing but give master more power. You may or may not get some federal debt credits in a master decided 'victory'. Look at you go! All of the things that you do to avoid resolving problems and issues on your own, gives master his power. By not participating in the system you withdraw your consent. A mass withdraw on an individual level would call for immediate restructuring that benefits all of life and puts basic needs first. This resource competition system and its garbage 'justice'...how many innocent people have been slaughtered behind it? Let's start here:

Slaughters can be brutally violent and slaughters can be brutally drawn out. The massacres were instantly violent. The enslaved however, had to die every day. Many people think they can plot and plan their way to overthrowing master, so they perpetuate master's oppression in the meantime. Such as our daily drudgery of pay and collect. Generate wealth for the wealthy and barely enough basic needs for ourselves. A slow, meaningless existence of work to buy unnecessary shit and recover on the weekend to go do the same again. And again. Then again after that:

That's because we cant even use them to recoup.
We've gotta use them to do laundry and dishes and grocery shop and get the house cleaned up and carve out some time for friends and family who we haven't seen all week long because we've been at work. We don't get to recover. We just have a never ending list of stuff that needs doing

The Industrial Revolution was the birth of some almost unbelievable and some severely depraved things. Humans created some wondrous material things. They also placed these things over the well-being of their fellow humans. Slaves were in high demand. Who is going to do the grueling work? Steve Jobs didn't build the iPhone. He had a task force. They received no credit. Master plutocrat accepted the awards. Basking in the adoration of the mass of corporate slaves. Who is going to mine the materials, assemble machines, etc?

Oligarchs and plutocrats do not like getting their hands dirty, literally or figuratively. Does master fix master's plumbing or does master compensate 'the help' to do it? If you throw a group of people into a small space and then make them compete for resources - that is a tried and true formula for violence, fear, depravity, rage, gangs, etc. Gangs like the Bloody Tubs haven't gone anywhere, they just have different names. They hate foreigners and they rally behind masters that also hate foreigners. Anti-immigrant. Xenophobic. Degenerate. Intellectually defective.

Kidnergartners stuck on colors. All accurate, choose your favorite synonym for the simple. In the mid 1800's, these crowded environments of resource competition created severe riots in the major cities. These riots kicked development of police forces into SWAT mode. Enforce the system of resource competition, then try to play the victim. Police haven't changed a goddamn bit. Patrick #Lyoya was just killed execution style by american police on April 4, 2022. Unarmed. His crime was not paying the state to drive his own vehicle and then resisting being kidnapped for ransom behind it(bail). They also killed Enzo the dog and Tyre Nichols.

american schutze:

"even after the suffering we see in society daily, let's continue to enforce this system of corporate servitude where the individual has no existential purpose but manual labor... then...let's beat them up, steal from them, kill them, make them afraid, then pretend to wonder why they hurt each other. but...and this is important - we have to remember to mask it with flags and photoshoots of us with children and puppies..."

---

Though it started well before then, in 1830 was the Indian Removal Act. The Trail of Tears. Steal their land, then send them out west. Around 4,000 died en route. The army deliberately routed them through areas with known epidemics. half the Cherokee population was decimated.

Between 1849 and 1870 more than 4,500 Native Americans were killed and 10,000+ kidnapped and sold into slavery during the acquisition of California. We 'acquired' it in a treaty with the Mexican government. Then we impose shit like this: a California law made it legal to declare any jobless Native American a vagrant, then auction his services off for up to four months. You could kidnap people of a different color and they couldn't testify against white people.

In 1864 was the Sand Creek Massacre. An atrocity led by United States Army Colonel Chivington. It is hard to type this without crying. 675 soldiers massacred up to 600 people. The monster claimed they were warriors as if that would justify it somehow. They weren't. They were mostly women and children, which his men massacred and took body parts as trophies (scalps, genitalia, fetuses, etc). Chivington stated, "Damn any man who sympathizes with Indians! ... I have come to kill Indians, and believe it is right and honorable to use any means under God's heaven to kill Indians. ... Kill and scalp all, big and little; nits make lice." If I were alive during this time, I would have found a way to access company meals and then poisoned them all.

§ 4 1900-1976

Idolizing celebrities is a way for master to condition slaves. "Be like them. Dress like them, try to act like them, and maybe one day, you too can help influence the lower classes!" If you watch movies from this era, you can see how everything from appearance to material to fear is recycled. The social conditioning works. The corporate construct efficiently plants roots during this time.

The symbolism changed but the behavior hasn't. The American flag represents the local system. The Blue Stripe Bandit flag represents its local Mil-Nat enforcer gang. The Green Stripe Globetrotter flag represents its global Mil-Nat enforcer gang. I am not an Antifa member or simpleton that thinks everything is fascist. Most Americans deny fascism and most people have a hard time interpreting dangerous symbolism for what it is, so I keep explaining it in my writing and on social media. World War 1 and 2 leftovers. The broad umbrella of us versus them. The donkey flag, the elephant flag, the Blue Stripe Bandit flag, the Green Gartered Grunt flag, the Red Rescue & Revive flag, the confederate flag, the cross of the bible, and street gang flags are all garbage symbolism. Each group thinks their group should be in power, on top, a mobilized national community, and an exception the rules. Each thinks they have 'the right idea' for how to exist. All are not only inherently wrong but cause mass suffering while claiming to do the opposite. Tribal warfare is not a sustainable society except for the masters and unless the penned cattle have ranch hand referees. Fascists and communists hate each other but they're stupid because both have the same thought process. Most communists are also fascists. Do you think that Stalin's regime had no fascist operations? When you militantly rally people behind a country and its symbolism...I don't know how else I can show you. You think crips controlling one block and bloods controlling another is an absurd way to live, correct? If you engage in American symbolism, you do the same thing. "This is our geographic region and if you offend, we will group up behind our flag!!!" Flagtards that don't know history except for a colonial misretelling.

Slaves in ancient times had better quality of life than that of villeins in the same time period. Sure you can go fend for yourself with the rest of the commoners, or you could slave for master. Depending on how they valued their own existence, many would have 'voluntarily' opted for it. People today still apply to be live in butlers and not just for disabled/elderly people. For entitled, wealthy, degenerate people that convince themselves they are doing the slave a favor. Putting a sea turtle in a tank. Yeah it might be 'safer' for it (except from those also in the tank), but only because it is willing to engage in existential subservience to a turtle already in the tank, and the master that hands out rations.

Slaves(lower class citizens) that weren't physically/mentally strong enough to fight would passively resist by breaking tools, equipment, etc. Music and writings such as this were weapons of resistance. They would fuck up paperwork for equipment and manufacturing shipments. They would fake illness. They would do any and everything they could to slow the system down. Our current form of corporate debt slavery really starts to take root. Go into debt for comfort and convenience. Then go into debt for basic needs. "Get your Westinghouse washer for only 3 payments. It does x, y, and z leaving you more time for shopping for other debts to incur!" An entire society of middle and lower class people borrowing what they don't have to buy what they don't need. As they look down on the poor while forcing polite speech with basic needs. Be respectful to your oppressors or get the nightstick. If someone is hungry and I have food, they can call me a cunt and say almost anything to me disrespectful (if they say something like "I'll sexually assault your daughter" obviously an exception but no one is going to say that in that situation), and I'll still let them have the food. Most people though? Someone gets disrespectful so they tell that person they can go starve. That's fucked up, the norm, and shows they have no mental fortitude.

Let's point out the Tuskegee Syphilis Experiment(calling it a study is trying to cover it up with language sanitization). Just cover up the people you destroy by calling those 'samples' Bad Blood and then its onto the next. Labrats in a pen thinking master cared for them. Human beings are still corporate state experiments. Our lives corporate laboratories. The Public Health Service started it in 1932. They took 600 destitute black people, 399 of which had Syphilis. They were promised free medical care as incentive. A 6 month experiment turned into a 40 year atrocity. When funding ceased, they continued it without telling them they wouldn't be treated. None of them were treated with penicillin, though by 1947 it was the widely available standard treatment.

Basic needs held hostage...what could they do? Force them to treat them and then go to prison and get life worse? If you resist being exploited you are called a suspect and a perpetrator by those that defend and worship master. Masters that are willing to do almost anything to fulfill their agenda. To think that those in power would not do whatever to whoever to maintain it, is to not think. If master has an enemy, he'll get your support one way or another. Master goes as far as his slaves let him.

Operation Northwoods

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Operation Northwoods was a proposed false flag operation against American citizens that originated within the US Department of Defense of the United States government in 1962. The proposals called for the CIA operatives to both stage and actually commit acts of terrorism against American military and civilian targets, blaming them on the Cuban government, and using it to justify a war against Cuba. The possibilities detailed in the document included the possible assassination of Cuban immigrants, sinking boats of Cuban refugees on the high seas,<sup>[2]</sup> hijacking planes to be shot down or given the appearance of being shot down,<sup>[2]</sup> blowing up a U.S. ship, and orchestrating violent terrorism in U.S. cities.<sup>[3]</sup> The proposals were rejected by President John F. Kennedy.<sup>[4][5][6]</sup>

§ 5 1976-2001

Violent crime decreases yet hate crimes increase. Post Red Scare, cold war leftovers era. Corporate american walls constructed by the Reinhard Gehlen playbook, Mussolini's OVRA tactics, and Stalin's NKVD tactics. Advertising and entertainment are still used as tools for conditioning. Celebrities being idolized and mimicked. Fellow humans dehumanized based on race, master worshipped, or religion chosen. The corporate state has taken root and the number of corporate slaves nearly doubled. Religious texts demanding the slaves propagate. Families in a resource competition society are having more than 10 children. Which is absolutely deplorable. Create more children to go slave for master. More beings to suffer at the hands of the corporate state and take a shit that ends up in a river. Bill Burr said, "That's not a family photo, that's an environmental disaster and you framed it!" During this time of degenerate humans making unlimited copies of themselves. Did you think new technology would mean this garbage works out great in the end? Humans with 1st century intellect have access to 21st century tech. If the remedial people group up with technology (like police do), you can expect eradication of the rest of us. All these fucking flags on every street. If you are anti-fascist you won't last very long. I am anti-most things society accepts. I am surprised I have survived this long without either police or other degenerate street thugs ending my physical existence.

2001-current

Slavery is still prevalent today. In the United States and everywhere the fuck else. 25 million in forced labor, 15.4 million in forced marriages, 4.8 billion in sexual exploitation and more than 10 million child slaves. I'm resisting this system and you absolutely should do the same. Non-resistance is complicity.

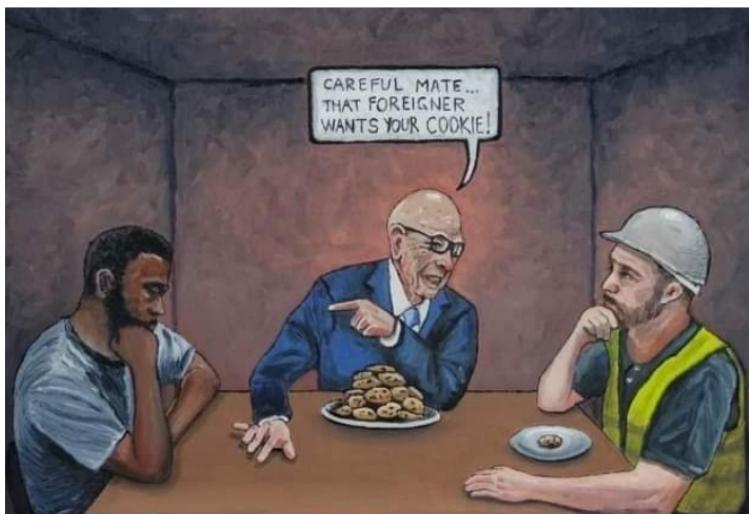

Alternatively, you could rally your donkey or elephant gang and keep begging master. That has not worked in a century. Rodney King getting his ass beaten (the Schutze will say, "taken down with compliance techniques") was in 1991 yet the police are still out here working the lower classes over for master. Generating that revenue. Inmates go combat forest fires and construct uniforms and mattresses for the military industry and the prison industry. Back to that 13th Amendment. It has a provision for slavery. Label the lower class criminals and you can work the villeins to death. 24 hour shifts, ~$2.90 per day. Just because you give someone a couple bucks does not make it 'not slavery'. The majority of inmates don't want to sit in a fucking concrete and steel box. "Yeah, the fire is hot and it's dangerous, but at least we get to go outside and we get some commissary money!! 24 hours is a pad of paper, 2 pencils and 2 stamped envelopes to communicate with my family!" Shackled labor is a third of California's firefighter force. Inmates have battled fires since World War 2.

Mussolini's Italy was in the 1920's and 30's but guess who is helping rewind Italy back to its "We beat his body with hammers but then forgot history apparently" state, besides the gang-gang Olympics? His granddaughter. All it takes is a generation for atrocities to be forgotten. The metric for how long after one atrocity occurs, it can be repeated and widely accepted/desired. It isn't repeated the same. It is a malleable derivative of it. I'll explain it like this: There are many frameworks for websites(Flask, Laravel, ASP.NET, etc). Let's say for this example only that Flask is Capitalism and Laravel is Socialism. A Flask site from 2016 is not going to be the same as one from 2022 yet the framework is the same, plus patches and updates to secure it. Different sites using the same framework won't look exactly the same on the face. A Laravel site from 2016 is not going to be the same as one from 2022 yet the framework's the same, plus patches and updates. The site won't look the same. Different sites won't look the same. Yet...the framework remains. Image and name are a problem. "America can't be fascist like Gestapo Germany because we don't send people to the gas chamber en masse." A dehumanized group to the gas chamber is part of that specific 'site'. The framework behind it is the same, except more secure. Why exterminate people when you can put them to work? There is always an enemy, a group to be dehumanized and a flag to rally the other members of the lower classes behind to do so. An immediate tell for intellectual retardation is someone proudly rallying behind flags. Especially one master hands to them. You've seen them. The flags in the American region of the planet usually contain stars & stripes, bald eagles, and crosses. 2001 is the year divide for this section this reason. The great "fear of middle eastern humans". Operation Northwoods suggests that many United States officials have no issue staging a terrorist attack and blaming someone they are trying to rally the citizens against. Us versus Them. All over again. A group to dehumanize. A group to hate. A group to let master save you from. "Fear them, love and trust me!", sayeth the Tyrant.

That pretty much translates the subtleties delivered in media rhetoric post twin towers collapse. Islam is absolute garbage but to target Muslims for the way master conditioned them...displaced anger. Every foreigner is now an invader in the eyes of voters. Doesn't matter whether they think it, they voted for that rhetoric even if they voted against it. Votes don't determine outcomes. The oligarchs and plutocrats count how many people still vote. In other words, how many people still delegate their power to them. How many people still beg master. How many people swallow the corporate state phallus. How many willing system participants remain. Your vote says you do those things because those things and voting are interchangeable descriptions of the same behavior. The state and corporations(the state is also a corporation) require consent of the masses. Individuals giving their consent are those masses. Individuals refusing to give their consent become mass withdrawal of that consent. The people screaming #MeToo and about consent are begging master if it's okay for them to not consent. Which is not the definition of consent. That is the definition of submission.

"Please master, may I?"

To which master responds, "If you go lock down and let me continue to have control, I'll consider it!"

The slaves go lock down. They go home. They wait patiently for master's decision, meanwhile continuing to work for and submit to master. Time is one of the system's greatest weapons against us. Relentless. Merciless. Master can apparently give us time and take it away.

Master has always exploited hope.

The United States is a corporation. It behaves and acts the same as other corporations. The bottom line is revenue. Profit. Without having to do the manual labor for it of course. That is for the undesirables, those to be dehumanized, etc. Name a single corporation that does not try to minimize overhead. Overhead for the united states corporation consists of healthcare, food, water, you know...basic fucking needs. The bare minimum required to keep the livestock functional. Utilitarian apathy from another authoritarian regime.

Cornell Law School

Legal Information Institute [LII] OPEN ACCESS TO LAW SINCE 1992

(15) "United States" means—
(A) a Federal corporation;
(B) an agency, department, commission, board, or other entity of the United States; or
(C) an instrumentality of the United States.

(16) "United States marshal" means a United States marshal, a deputy marshal, or an official of the United States Marshals Service designated under section 564.

(Added Pub. L. 101–647, title XXXVI, § 3611, Nov. 29, 1990, 104 Stat. 4933.)

I can't go a mile without seeing an American flag. You would think the entire society has Alzheimer's and they keep forgetting where they are. Well, they do. They think they live on Planet America because of Plato's cave allegory. Real easy to think that your snacks and electronics are reality, isn't it? Snacks and electronics are control methods. Many people will accept prison as long as they get snacks and television. Distraction from the time. Many people choose prison because basic needs are met. Enough to keep the livestock

---

'live. Prisoners generate revenue. Their families get exploited by phone and commissary companies for communication and snacks. Even by sitting in a cell, not working, not 'contributing' to society like these degenerate rednecks claim a real man should - they generate astronomical revenue.

"a real man slaves for the corporate state to provide for his offspring!"

Rednecks are the last line of defense against anything that challenges master's construct. They love their flags, guns, and trucks, and they love master. Master hides behind the flag. They would never go against their precious sky cloth, therefore would never go against master. Anyone who challenges master is a traitor. Anyone who challenges fascism or capitalism becomes Antifa or communist or socialist. Master is the only one that can fuck them with no grease. Listen how proud of it they are. So loud about how much they love it. Then they demand you bend over and love it, too. I have a better proposition, how about you and your master go find a noose?

---

5 people out of 1000 begging for authoritarian abuse/tyranny/intervention does not justify the authoritarian abuse/tyranny perpetrated onto the other 995 people that just want to be left alone. Your fear does not trump the freedom and well-being of others.

I FUCK MY TRUCK, I OWN MY WIFE,
I PROTECT MY FLAG, STAND MY MEAT,
AND EAT MY GUN!! DON'T LIKE IT?
THEN MOVE COMMIE!!

You would be causing an immeasurably less amount of societal suffering by eating the whole front end of a greyhound. Not the dog. Your choices that your body acts out cause other people problems. I don't mean trying to beat the traffic light. I mean choices like worshiping master. Choices like demanding people submit to covidfear yet drivers kill 3700+ people per day. Choices like begging politicians to use their police to make criminals out of everyone. Someone making it so you have to wait another rotation at the traffic light is not a problem. Where do you have to be so bad that you would wish harm on this person for delaying it by 2 minutes? If picking up your kid up from school is your excuse, why are you having strangers raise your children? Is it because you have to go work for master? Your submission is cowardice. Your submission and his submission and her submission is all of our enslavement. Now maybe you can see why I am offended by your existence. Your fake altruism, feigned empathy, and your fraudulent compassion. Self-interest. Self gain. Self preservation. Look how many people can't do a kindness without posting it on social media or bragging to people they know. If you did it to help the person instead of trying to look good, you wouldn't need to say anything about it except when a situation calls for explaining how someone else needs to do the same. Can you do it without making yourself look positive or negative? Try telling them that you saw someone else doing the kindness. That is a good way to teach the lesson while leaving ego and image out of it. Speaking of image and ego, after I handed a 6'7" combat vet's ass to him for hopping out in traffic trying to fight, he called the police. While the police were asking me about it, they asked if I were a police officer and someone wouldn't get their car up to inspection after warnings, why wouldn't I write a ticket? How else would you get them to comply? My response was this: "If I worked for the state like you, I know that my finances would be secure so I would buy the person the car part. Stealing money for the state from them, doesn't put them any closer to getting their car approved. You just want compliance. You don't give a fuck how it affects society." Fucking schutze. With their gelled hair, tribal tattoos, and Blue Stripe Bandits covid masks. I can't wait for Nuremberg Round 2, though I doubt I'll be alive that long. It would be existentially satisfying to see the depraved with the fear in their eyes for once, trying to plead for their lives to the people they brutalized and exploited for master. "I was just doing my job!" That shit is so tired. The excuse doesn't work but they keep trying to use it. You can beg master or hang master on a meat hook. I bet one gets master to start acting right.

"i'm just doing my job!"

If your only choice is to comply, regardless of morality, that is authoritarian, totalitarian tyranny. This may be hard to understand at first but authority is make-believe. Same with religion and politician/police worship, the paracosm is only real if you believe it, too. For people with the ability to mentally process their environment without collapsing from fear - American authority has no valid, moral, or rational foundation. Fear is the United States' business. Eventually, force and fear are required if authority wishes to maintain that control/business. If your child is about to put a paperclip in the lightsocket - they should absolutely do what you say, but the authority is still make-believe. Most of the time though, authority is used to control environment based on like/dislike. The subjective whims of the authority figure. How can a child learn their environment properly this way? THEY FUCKING CAN'T. Stop trying to call your behavior parenting. Yeah, sure, you're teaching them how to live...around you. Chances are great that most people can't tolerate living with you. You have no societal control so you try to mold your immediate environment and those in it around your desires and frustrations. Your Lordship. George Carlin said something to the effect of "...parents never teach their child to question authority because they don't want to undermine their own bullshit..." which leads to a society full of adult children. Begging master. Doing chores for master. A lot of people do rebel, but they rebel counterproductively. For example, "I know Jesus is bullshit, so I'll become a Satanist!" going to the opposite extreme of the same paracosm. It is still the Jesus paracosm, they just chose to love a different character in it. That's stupid. There are people right this minute as I am typing and right this minute you are reading it - trying to convince others that the Earth is flat. There are people trying to convince others that one rich master loves us and the other doesn't. There are people trying to convince others that there are reptilian shapeshifters coming to send humanity into another dimension of consciousness. Gaia has an ad trying to claim this is just the case:

[https://www.youtube.com/watch?
v=cqedW42gU3M](https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cqedW42gU3M)

Infuriating to me is that they have it setup so the viewer subconsciously thinks it is the History channel or something. Set and setting. A three or four person panel in 'nice' clothes with 'prestigious' titles, a professional ad...saying reptilians are coming and are already here. To stupid people, there must be something to what they are saying. However, this is by appearance, presentation, and delivery only. A society of rational adults is not controllable by oligarchs and plutocrats. Society must be irrational and remain irrational. Otherwise, master loses control. An irrational society is not Anarchy but a manageable chaos. I suggest that a rational society is an unmanageable order. Goebbels stated, "Propaganda works best when those who are being manipulated are confident they are acting on their own free will." People that don't know what to believe for certain usually default to corporate, state rhetoric. Especially when challenged intellectually. Extremely hard to defend something you don't understand. Especially a direct order. That's why you hear Schutze saying they were just doing their job. They have no valid defense for their exploitative behavior. Police are like an older sibling. Only they can bully you, beat you up, take your lunch money, and humiliate you.

American symbolism is you approving of uncountable, inhumane horrors committed...fucking look at you go!

We are all programmed to react to environment in a certain way. Genetics. Now, enter Environment. Society. Buttons and button-pushers. Our code gets altered. A brutal onslaught of sights, sounds, sensations. Now add language. Maximize fear. Force resource competition. Add ridiculous beliefs. Rotten ways of existing in excess or depravity. Don't you think this is the recipe for a mentally and emotionally corrupt being? If a flag or some other made up symbolism with all kinds of death and atrocities behind it hasn't been branded into the forefront of your defective brain, you will most likely agree. Snack and PlayStation slaves will not agree. I don't care. A society should be constructed on reality not what its mentally defective majority likes the sound of or not. Each of these things is a subroutine. A child process. You can alter your main function but it takes introspection. Line by line psycho-emotional bug hunting. If your subroutines are garbage, your routine is garbage. If your individual is garbage, your society is garbage.

Worship your coffee, do you? I fucking bet. Racing your death machine through the fiberoptic lines of society to get your $10 an ounce ethanol'd petrol. Milk, sugar, coffee, an Italian name. Come to my house, I'll do the same for $3 and you can pick whatever language you like. I work a mean boil and strain if it's max stress response your body needs. America. Land of choice. So many options. So many chemicals. So much available for intake. Which corporate master gets your federal debt credits? That's where the psychological warfare comes in. Conglomerates with teams of marketing and advertising think tanks. Marketing and advertising is one thing and one thing only - manipulation. How can they convince you to hand back the federal debt credits you spent your week slaving for? Benefits, positives, advantages, never ever why not or what's wrong or possible issues. Only the 'positive'. There are some people that know this, so they try to talk something negative about the used car they are selling but nothing that would break the deal. "It does need new cupholders and a floor mat for the rear passenger side. Hahaha, you know...kids." Putting forth the 'I am honest...can't you tell because I was not all positive in my pitch?' image. Whether chemicals to clean, chemicals to ingest for sustenance, or to alter your mental/emotional state - chemicals bind us to corporations and the state. Drugs eat away the human will to resist. Drugs control and consume. Drugs hinder, limit, cripple, kill, and destroy. Self and familial destruction never felt so fucking great. Ever heard a dealer say his shit is garbage? Maybe you never heard a dealer. If you haven't, you just think you haven't or you're pretending. I bet you half of your buttcheeks you're pretending. I don't want your buttcheeks. Your dealer probably does though. Literally, figuratively, or both. Especially if you are a woman. Chemical discount for a sexual extra, acting like they are doing the basehead the favor. I want to say my drug of choice is a laptop but I would be lying. I don't have a drug of choice. I have drugs of choice. Many people are told they can beat chemical addiction by replacing it with a physical one. Working out, hacking, etc. However I hack and work out but also ingest chemicals. Gabapentin, prozac, nicotine from wraps, cannabis, caffeine, otherwise hacking and working out don't happen. Without those things, I would be completely handicapped for a long time. Vulnerable. Susceptible. I have many enemies. Low ranking, redneck town cops to FBI agents to other street thugs. Incarceration is not happening unless 12 politician begging, Blue Stripe Bandits groupies don't like having their depraved heroes' brutality/tyranny challenged. My medications are always held hostage in jail, they will wish their Schutze heroes would have executed me in the street like the flag waving, nationalist, badge wearing, gun toting, loot collecting bitchhounds are known best for. Doesn't take much for them to want that, just challenge their symbolism/doctrine with logic and make them feel as stupid as they should. Even withdrawing from corporate chemicals I still speak with more rational thought than most employed by the state. My chemicals are my prison and my vulnerability. I have tried for years to quit them. I will end with them. I absolutely could quit but I would not be able to mentally function how I need to. I can do without the others, but Gabapentin is murder. 15 years on this garbage. Jails refuse it as it is about revenue. I do not and cannot sit around and mentally consume garbage. I work on coding projects like my RSAKiller (github.com/distherapy/rsakiller) and literary projects like this and RCAPS. If I did not have my chemicals, these things would not progress. If these do not progress I am wasting my existence in a stagnant prison of my own acceptance. I am not being narcissistic or delusional when I say that I have lived a life most couldn't imagine. Witnesses and people that know me will tell you the same. The things I've done, the things that have been done to me, the places I have been, the situations. Almost everyone thinks their life is the story of the century but that is not what I am getting at. If I didn't write my experiences for others to understand, I would have wasted them. Also, writing helps me process though events. You people do, think, and say some absurd things. The vast number of you sometimes makes me question myself but then I remember your corporate thought process of fear & snacks and I hold fast. Avoiding things that sound good when some things that sound good are good, is tough sometimes. People will let someone continually fuck them over as long they promise to fix it, validating their original purchase. Like voting. Guarantees get wrapped up in litigation. Lying about amending the 13th amendment(slavery loophole) while making people think something is being done about it: 'Nothing will be done but it could lead to long, drawn out litigation years from now where if they violate they just have to pay a fine - which comes from that exploited labor anyway'.

**https://distherapy.altervista.org/america-pretends-to-stop-slavery-13th-amendment-loophole/**

Neither the state, nor corporations, nor the media are for us. Lie, cheat, steal, exploit the lower classes, do what you need to now and work it out later if you have to. Usually the law, time, and or money work in corporate favor. Remember that verdict against Johnson & Johnson for their part in opiates? None of that money went to the victims of Johnson & Johnson. It went to the state. Which is also a corporation. We are the corn-fed, chemically sedated livestock that corporations trade between themselves while police ranch hands maintain social order. A cow bumped into another one and now they are both screaming for the ranch hand to come choose the victor by master's wording book. What is victory for these bovine bitch asses? Ego and some extra feed. Totally worth being subservient to master. Fucking idiots. Their emotions tell them they are correct. Their emotions tell them that this opponent did the thing to them. "I am not wrong/bad/inferior because they are. Master's representative said so." That is absolutely horrid yet extremely common 'logic'. The majority in fact. If it were not the majority, society would not be this corporate, financial construct you perpetuate with every hour clocked in. Chemicals alter emotion. No refutation. Drugs eat away the will to resist. Emotionally supercharged beings are much less sound in their mental processing. I have not seen a document signed off by a government executive saying, "On this date during the 1980's, introduce them to crack cocaine." but knowing the extent to which governments and corporations throughout history have been more than eager and willing to go to keep your mental processing at the level of a 4 year old - it makes me not dismiss it. Then the revenue the state gets. Then they get to make criminals out of everyone. Then it justifies hiring more jackboot enforcers. It's another perfect setup master has. My favorite setup being that if you comply you perpetuate the system and if you resist, you're crazy.

when you're on your way to kick in some poor person's door for state revenue and you start to wonder if you're solving social problems - or enforcing them

Consent of the slave is required in order for master's authority. Consent can be and is manufactured with fear, media, and when those fail - force. A manual labor version of rape. Deceive, lie, convince, manipulate. According to society, these are all acceptable behaviors when trying to place a part of your body inside someone else's yet what is not acceptable is doing it against the person's will. To me these are not acceptable. An ultimatum is no less rape than physical restraint. It's worse in a way because you are making the person feel like they chose it. Yes, the state wants to fuck you. Corporations want to fuck you. Fear. Ultimatums. Ultimately...force. Guess what helps in mental susceptibility of the subject? Chemicals. You can be more susceptible to authority/manipulation while under the influence or more susceptible while lacking it. Holding hits hostage. There is more than one way to skin a hostage. Fleece a sheep. Tip a cow. Fat ass servers overclocked. Get it? Think of a computer server as a restaurant owner/server that lives there and is open 24/7. The information is stored in the kitchen and the server brings you your requests. Your requests are usually arbitrary and trivial yet provide revenue for the system, continuing its existence. "I wanted mine served with onions. Also, what you served didn't match the headers on the menu!" Would these be what they are, better, or worse had I never had excess chemical intake? Considering my intellect, would I be more intellectual or would I be a mental invalid had my mother not used chemicals while pregnant? My chemical intake and my refusal to comply with the corporate, american, police state seems to negate the idea that drugs eat away the will to resist. Few chemical reactions are guaranteed for 100% of people that ingest them. I haven't had a length of chemical free days long enough to know how

I process without. There is no way to go back and rerun the experiment of life for myself, this time without the chemicals. Alternatively, perhaps it is the chemicals themselves that accelerated disintegration of the authoritarian construct. How many times have you been doing something that wasn't hurting anyone, even indirectly (for example, going 60 in a 55 that isn't a construction zone. No school zone is 55 mph), and some authority with uncle sam's phallus reaching his stomach decides you're the one to pay the state for protection/safety that day? How many times have you seen it, yet assumed the person must have done something. Otherwise the Schutze wouldn't have taken away from their precious parallel park conference time. Events that aren't chemical can cause pleasant chemical reactions. Why do you think the boots get off on arrests? Don't think they do? Blue Stripe Bandit groupies depend on them "protecting". Is solving a Zale's robbery protecting people or is it protecting master's money and economy? The economy is a Ponzi scheme yet you can hear most americans bleating about how precious it is to them. They genuinely feel they cannot exist and are not safe without it. Master's barbed porkhammer grudgefucking their brains. No condom. No KY or Vaseline. No foreplay, no courtesy, no consideration. Submit, die, or incarceration. These are your options on planet america. A forced domestic partnership where you get basic needs met as long as you dedicate your existence mind, body, and soul to master and master's symbolism. #1776Heads

Fear dictates almost everything in this construct. Sex sells, yes, but fear conditions. A plastic woman on the cover of a 409 bottle is not going to work on the majority. What if they were afraid of the germs that 409 kills? Fear has a nasty habit of spreading rapidly like my biological mother wanting to fuck a Molotov. People adopt irrational fears because others do. There are some people that make fear their identity. Police for example. Other street thugs and gangs. Pastors. Politicians. Penal officers. Prosecutors. Professionals. Protectors. People that rally the majority against a specific group, can only use fear to do so. Fear permits dehumanization. Fear permits abandonment of conscience. Fear is a root of evil. If you are not afraid, you are not controllable. If you are not afraid you won't combat other consumers for crumbs in a depraved game of resource competition. Hungry, hungry, corn-fed hippos.

This code is severely exploited and you should engage in constant mitigation. We receive a constant barrage of "this is what you want!!" by corporations and most people genuinely believe it is their own choice. All the products are the best. Insert Carlin's advertising phrases routine here. There is never a reason you should not go with the manufacturer's product. As a human in this corporate construct do you desire things that sound unappealing? People like kimchi and meth so the answer can be yes. Usually it's a 'No!'. Which sounds better and which is true: 25% off or 25% less because we are trying to maximize profits? The opposite can also be true. The price of items is arbitrary. You can get a shirt for the price of a laptop and a laptop for the price of a jet engine. What genuine value then, has the laptop? To manufacturers, distributors, and sellers, it is the maximum you are willing to pay without cutting out a large portion of the purchasing demographic. If the max you are willing to pay is $200 for a laptop(not brand specific), next it is how little you'll accept for that $200. You get sold the 2010 Dell if you'll take it. If not, then they decide the maximum they'll let go for the $200. Rape the consumer using high school weed sale tactics. Gauge how ignorant and/or desperate the customer is and exploit it. If something about one of those laptops catches you, your desire is going to release more of your federal debt credits against your logical will. Been fishing? Well, it's agitating to carry everything in your pockets with your lures in your hat. I bet you go buy a tackle box. Especially if you want to fit the image of fisherman. Like a person who jogs but buys jogging clothes. There's no necessity. You can claim necessity but you can justify anything to yourself. Especially with reasons spoonfed in doctrine and corporate rhetoric. More Gerber master, please and thank you. That tackle box though. You have to carry your gear so you free up a hand by not taking a tackle box and instead - you purchase cargo pants. Your desire for comfort and convenience. The problem is that there are all kinds of boxes and pants already floating around the planet. Make use of them. Take your power back from corporations and states. Bug hunt your garbage code. You don't even have syntax correct in most functions. The logic is non-existent. Your functions are few and they are loops.

1776Heads? Stuck in a loop. Christians, Muslims, Jews, Republicans, Democrats, Bloods, Crips, Kings, those that identify as some group? All stuck in a loop. Hamsterwheels. How hard they think they are actively doing something is a complete mindfuck. They are actively engaging in it. It would be hilarious if:

- it wasn't self-destructive
- it wasn't socially destructive
- they didn't break new minds of children
- those new minds didn't become adult majority
- that adult majority doesn't beg a rich person to force his will on others with police(corporate, nationalist, militant, jackboot enforcers, if you will).

If you grow up and want your desire and fear - actually your entire emotional state and psyche - to be owned by oligarchs, plutocrats, authority, corporations, and the system, go ahead. Just don't fuck with the minds of children. You say it is your right but it isn't. Do you think that because you put a part of your body inside someone else's and released liquid that you own your copy? Your copy is still a free being of its own. Or do you think you have mastered the universe and teaching everyone to exist as existentially retarded as you do is the best way? I don't force my son to live a certain way. I constantly say things guiding but choices are his. I can tell him, give him a direct order even. Doesn't matter, authority is make believe. Even if its me with it. The choice is ultimately his. His mother took him to a church where they roll around on the ground mumbling the same repetitive nonsense syllables and claim it is divine interaction. Obviously I have a huge problem with this but I cannot force him to not go. What better way to make him want to go than by trying to force him not to. Humans are inquisitive creatures. We like to experience things ourselves. Hacking children. Is my non-hindrance of information as much as a control tactic as forcing the information? Not control but manipulation and not as dishonest/deceptive. I want them to think freely unbound by desire, fear, and corrupt intellectual processing. You want them to think as you do. I don't want my son to think as I do. Environments, factors, people, society, etc are all different from the things that sculpted my perception of reality. A lot of pain, a lot of suffering, a lot of anger, a lot of empathy, a lot of conscience. A whole lot of "I would never go through this existence again for any reason." That is a desire of mine for sure. What would joy be without suffering? Not a fucking roller coaster. I would gladly do without both. What if instead of getting high and then dealing with the comedown, you just didn't? Boring right? Why? It's boring because you are used to a constant sensory assault of entertainment. Even work is supposed to be awesome. Look at the hiring ads. "Come work with a high energy, positive, caring family." 6 cashiers, two stockboys, and management. Real exciting there at your local grocer. Parties at work. No customer service required. Why don't ads tell the truth? You wouldn't spend your federal debt credits. "Come slave for basic needs, you'll get swing shift and called in often, you can refuse but it'll work against you. We'll pay you the minimum required by law and to keep profits maintained. No benefits. No smoke breaks. No phones. Time to lean is time to clean. Your coworkers are full with petty drama and interoffice politics."

Media and the state tagteam us like a real life WWE match. Not real life as in person, but real life as in scripted and people eat it up like the events weren't mapped out beforehand. Getting excited for their chosen player in a fixed MMA match. The opponent is taking a dive but they think their celebrity won. Every news article you see about a 'crime' that just happened - they get spoon-fed information by system representatives. Often, the media is the 4th branch of american government. Propaganda, spun narratives, turning the victims into the perpetrators and the perpetrators into heroes:

I don't know about you, but I am past tired of having my mental and emotional existence stolen by corporations and the state. If you are fighting with people over which of the 6 media conglomerates is correct - you aren't past tired of it. You live it and love it. Otherwise, you probably wouldn't be defending them so severely. How many times have you heard the news say with some 'we are like family' sounding garbage, "You can absolutely trust what we tell you, we are your geographic region's representative for one of 6 conglomerates!" They don't say those exact words but it translates that way. Repeat after me:

THE MEDIA IS NOT MY FRIEND.

THE MEDIA IS NOT A RELIABLE SOURCE OF DETAILED INFORMATION.

THE MEDIA IS NOT FOR OUR INFORMATION.

THE MEDIA IS FOR OUR CONDITIONING.

Xenophobia is rampant. As shown by studies, we feel less empathy for those not 'like us'.

[https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC
3108582/](https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC3108582/)

We automatically see race. Humans are categorical thinkers. We navigate our environment by 'pain & not pain', 'good & bad'. Biological programming and environmental. A society of ganged up ethnicities adopting ways of 'surviving' that are socially accepted by their hierarchical superiors. "The enemy of my superior is also my enemy" says every authoritarian, boot worshiping statist ever. Most xenophobes are using recycled social code. His father before his father cooked shrimp. Mama said. Shell game. You have three cups, different color. Which one is the ball of evil in? Can you tell by the color? Absolutely not, but your dumbass brain sure is going to try. "Today my name on my Starbuck's cup was written in blue instead of black, so I think that's a sign the blue cup is the one I am supposed to choose." Humans and their symbolism and their garbage correlations because categorical thought saves time. Do you want to read the entire source code of a software before you buy it or just see the name "Kaspersky" or "Norton" and decide with what is presented on the outside of the cup? Imagine the time that would take having to make all of your decisions this way. By the time you decide which software to buy, it's already out of date and needs patches. By the time you read the source code of all your processed corporate garbage you call sustenance you will need to eat again. Companies have to print their source code. The Nutrition Facts and Ingredients sections. Yeah sure, when your wages/labor are being depleted for a purchase you're more likely to review the source code. However when it's a human you don't know - why even worry about it? Why even? Because we are supposed to be an intelligent and evolved species. Knowing none of us really presents our true self to others, why do you make judgment calls based on these presentations? I do it, but by the arguments other people give me for doing it, I know I do it for a different reason and in a different way.

One is socially destructive and false. The other is mine. If you dress a certain way besides utility/comfort, this shows that you care about image. Image and presentation. Symbolism misrepresenting substance. I do not. Image and presentation are socially destructive. Embarrassment is social sandpaper. Why would you dress like this except to:

- a) attract attention
- b) attract attention
- c) attract attention
- d) beg individuality in a purposeless society
- e) all of the above ?

You know it is e. I know it is e. If you do not know it is e, then you haven't broken into introspective thought. An entire society of lost individuals trying to find themselves by mimicking the behavior of those that depend on their exploitation. If I dress like this actor/rapper/fighter, then others will see me the same way I see them. What is absurd about d is that they are trying to be an individual by copying someone else. That thought process is fucking lucrative for the oligarchs and plutocrats. When people think they are doing something but are in fact doing the severe opposite. These Starburst packs are having children. Lots of them. Now, for my judgment call replace Starburst with a church outfit. Often the same but for this, it's a suit. This person cares about their physical appearance more than anything. Having bodily hygiene is important, I am talking about looks. If he stinks, help him to a shower, or just be understanding. I trust a person who stinks more than I trust a person in a suit. Facts. A sort of inverse of the olfactory rhetoric fallacy:

A vicious, zoological-level fallacy of pathos in which opponents are marginalized, dehumanized or hated primarily based on their supposed odor, lack of personal cleanliness, imagined diseases or filth. E. g., "Those demonstrators are demanding something or another but I'll only talk to them if first they go home and take a bath!" Or, "I can smell a Jew a block away!" Also applies to demeaning other cultures or nationalities based on their differing cuisines, e.g., "I don't care what they say or do, their breath always stinks of garlic. And have you ever smelled their kitchens?" Olfactory Rhetoric straddles the borderline between a fallacy and a psychopathology. A 2017 study by Ruhr University Bochum suggests that olfactory rhetoric does not arise from a simple, automatic physiological reaction to an actual odor, but in fact, strongly depends on one's predetermined reaction or prejudices toward another.

I've met lots of both. Definitely been deceived and exploited by suits more than I have been by the homeless. No competition whatsoever. Not all homeless stink and not all people with homes have decent hygiene. We are programmed biologically and societally to clean up. Most humans do so based on easily identifiable descriptors. Their immediate image. Kindergartners stuck on colors. Animals have superhero snouts compared to our ability to detect scent. Humans smell a fart and start freaking out. Americans love getting to pick and choose which part of their existence is justified by being an animal and which parts are justified by being more than just an animal. It's like feminists that want the benefits of being a male. Go first at everything? They'll keep it. Pay for the meal? Pass. A man hits them and gets consequences? They'll take it. They hit a man and get consequences? Hard pass. Everyone with their own definitions of what constitutes 'civilized' behavior. Murdering people in the street for arbitrary infractions? Not acceptable. Having a police officer do it? Acceptable. Civilized in first world countries just translates to "Do nothing to protect yourself but still clock in, we your masters will handle everything else!" Executing someone in the street is inhumane so let them rot in a concrete and steel box for decades instead? Ha! No instead. We do both at maximum efficiency and capacity. What a defenseless, retarded society. Not allowed to think or act, can only ask master for permission and help. You are in traffic with no witnesses. Someone pulls a gun on you, you happen to take it from them, and use it on them - you are going to jail for homicide. Someone has to pay for every bad thing that happens ever, and police work would be too expensive when there is an instant culprit society will believe did it, as long as police tell them so through the media. The false accusations and wrongful convictions aren't just police, prosecutors', and judges' fault. They're your fault. You keep begging police, politicians and judges. You keep begging master to solve your social issues. This is not socially sustainable yet you dumbass flagpole phallus takers keep trying your mental hearts out:

"if you don't worship a politician like we do, then you're a traitor!"

Slaves work best divided. Flagtards. Division of labor has more than one meaning. If you are at odds socially, then you'll most likely try to compensate with some type of corporate garbage. Food, chemicals, drugs, electronics, engines, etc. It never fully does, so now you're stuck trying to justify these self and socially destructive subroutines you have allowed to corrupt your programming. Much easier to justify it than bug hunt huh, bitch ass? You non-intellectual weenie. You HGH injecting, bully of a backyardigan. Your sports team winning is the same emotional rush when master's jackboots choose your spun story in a forced mediation. You didn't win anything. You watched someone else act while you talked. The American way. I try not to capitalize things I do not respect. Governments, religions, certain people, unless they're kicking off a sentence.

They aren't the same color, culture, geographic region, team, or language as you so it's fuck 'em, right? Imagine being so devoid of a personality and identity that you adopt ones the state hands you. You are black, be proud. You are white, be proud. You are Native American, be proud. You are LGBTQTOOMANY+ be proud. Pride is division. Why would you be proud of something you cannot help and have no control over? I am Irish-Italian and some other shit probably but is that something I am going to start waving around? I am not Irish-Italian and some other shit probably. I am a bag of cells, muscles, and bones, with a consciousness trying to understand all of it. When I was a juvenile I got the flags tatted on my inner arms. I would like to have zero tattoos. Choices. Now I just wear long sleeves. You live on planet Earth, not planet america. Gang gang for the simple. There are several reasons why I resist the corporate american police state by myself:

1. The state destroys organizations that compete with or challenge it. I am no competitor. I am a challenger trying to stop exploitation of life and unnecessary, excess suffering. If you form a gang, even calling it a militia, the state wins automatically. The state, other corporations, and the Mil-Nat, system enforcers claim that they protect the 'little guy'. What the fuck is the little guy? Why is that even a valid concept except as a descriptor of someone's actual, physical stature or term of endearment for a mouse, spider, cat, frog, etc? You are not bigger(worth more) than I am and I am not bigger(worth more) than you. My life does not take priority over yours and vice versa. I am not going to give up my seat on the bus to a pregnant woman with children. I will give up my seat to an elderly woman/man. I am not going to reward behavior that makes society worse. I will step in front of a vehicle to keep it from running over a frog, turtle. I struggle with insects. I will not kill them but would I step in front of a vehicle to prevent the death of one? No. I want to say yes to present an image of 'showing by example'. Value all of life, even the smallest but lying about my character substance is not showing by example. It's doing what politicians, pastors, police, and plutocrats do. The conscience is a motherfucker.

2. I want to show by example. People are afraid of the other groups so they group up themselves. I don't gang up. I challenge authority and its mindless devotees without weapon and without numbers. Courage is not lack of fear but persistence through it. Don't go too far with that because that is similiar to suicide bomber logic. I know that oligarchs, plutocrats, and their jackboot enforcers cause so much suffering to innocent people that not resisting is an abomination of the conscience. I do what causes the least amount of suffering. Ambushing police or blowing yourself up will solve nothing and only makes victims. Especially out of the jackboot enforcers. Challenge them intellectually on film and if they try to abuse their power and cage you because they can't back up their abusive authoritarian garbage - then resist. It hurts but why would you let yourself be escorted to your own exploitation/slaughter? You go to jail and there are businesses making billions of dollars from family members. (GTEL, SecurusTech, Aramark, Tiger Commissary, CCA/CoreCivic, Vanguard, BlackRock, Fidelity). I cannot condone it. I will not voluntarily allow it. If people show that you can resist by yourself and make change, then Gestapo tactics don't work anymore. You aren't afraid, so you are not able to be turned against those also being victimized by the state.

3. I have no black belt, no weapons excluding my original Casey Jones Kali sticks, and no gang members to have my back. The state preys on the vulnerable. How can a similarly defenseless person resist a military? What about one in a wheelchair? Obviously, the war cannot be physical. The battle involves physical resistance because the boots always use force when they are afraid and stupid, but overall a skin over bones is not going to beat flakjackets, artillery, and strength in numbers. If/when the schutze force my death, there is to be substance behind me to continue. Intellect can beat strength in numbers however, the fallacy is that I am heavily relying on mentally defective people to all of a sudden say, "Oh, I get it now, the state and other corporations don't love us or care about us at all! They care about their cheap labor and we provide that. They exploit every aspect of our existence while making us beg for it and be proud of it!" or that they'll even take the time to read something that challenges every social construct they've bound their mental processing to. Will it register? Like a drifter at an inn in the middle ages, probably not. Logic usually does not feel good. It isn't always at odds with emotion, but often enough that people should be spending a lot more time checking and rechecking their 'gut feeling'. Gut feelings with holes in your story can lead to holes in your abdomen with a different gut feeling. Or often enough holes in someone elses abdomen with still a different gut feeling in yours. If you have a conscience.

Guilt followed by introspection isn't for everyone. The state has its own version of guilt (everyone but its party members are guilty). Corporate environments have their own as do religions. If your guilt is in excess, which all of those entities heavily reinforce in our every daily lives, you are controllable. Try not buying a christmas or birthday present for someone you love, though you have the money. It's for the kids is a common line. The major problem with that is, either you want rational adults or you want santa claus fearing imbeciles, mental invalids. Behavior adoption and information absorption begin early in life. 3, 4, 5, 6 years old. "We'll tell them the easter bunny isn't real when he's 9." Well, you've just shown your child that you have no issue blatantly lying to them and following all the way through with it. That makes you a garbage parent, no matter how many baubles and trinkets you wrap for the poor, little bastard. Just because other stupid people engage in a behavior doesn't mean you should get retarded with them. Most jump off the bridge screaming, "Do as I say not as I do!" Parent of the Year.

Cattle Tipping (verb): go to any church or political rally and push someone down.

If you want to offend the simpleminded that have make believe problems, make fun of their symbolism.

You can't take someone's life but you can take their house and living situation. The court system is a false pretense. 'Justice' is a misnomer for state facilitated and profited from, vengeance.

Even if you're a professional you're still a slave in a field.

Americans are in a constant scrimmage playing shirts vs skins while the league makes a killing.

Stop trying to figure out how to pay rent and start trying to figure out why.

In this socioeconomic system - poor blacks and rednecks are laterally equal yet influenced to be at war with each other instead of those oppressing them for cheap labor.

Rednecks are the state's last resort weapon...most are xenophobic behind nationalism so will fight, and die, for free.

Stop fighting. Stop participating. Achieve a mental state of calm awareness with no emotion attached to it. If only I could practice what I preach...

When all the names have been attacked and discredited, who will you have think for you then?

It's a big planet, go over there. Don't you have better things to do with your one existence besides trying to interact with mine?

Corporations that force their employees to hear the same constant repetitive music or recordings are subjecting them to a form of torture.

Those who were genuinely concerned about the deaths of others would not scream for police to race to the scene to enforce corporate mask policies while they contradictorily drive their murder machines every day that contribute 3700+ deaths daily.

"Awww fucking spider webs in my face!"
Dude, you bulldozed his only grocery store.

Americans are quick to scream about free speech until they have to hear something they don't like.

Want to see society for what it really is?
Peel the labels off.

Dude, stop teaching your children that a zombie was born to a virgin, walked on water, and generated food from nothing. Those little bastards turn into adults, a society full of people who don't understand the basics of their environment which leads to not caring about/for it properly. After all, according to you - you can rape and kill your whole life but if you utter a couple magic words right before you die - it all goes away.

The most ruthless gangs in relatively ranking order:

bankers/politicians
law enforcement
christians/muslims
republicans/democrats

In a society of people that can't get validation for their suffering, people don't have the emotional capacity to care about your suffering as much as you do.

Hierarchy(noun): people above you are more important, people below you are looked down upon.

If given Sophie's choice between my cat and a random human, I see a guilt free future of meow mix, litter box changes, and tranquility.

Often my goal is to get the information I need, not care how you righteously misperceive the character I intentionally display to you at that time.

Why not one meal all the time but you can make it taste like any meal?

Without 911/999 calls and confidential informants, the majority of police would have no success or employment.

All celebrities, politicians, and managers are sellouts.

The political construct is built on ad hominem, symbolism, revenue, and image. Remove those things and what do you have? A bunch of fools standing around in suits professing their loyalty to the 'little guy' they exploit, so that he'll keep clocking in for them.

Why not instead live doing what you can for others - leaving them alone unless they are in genuine need. stop trying to force your views on others with politicians and police.

Remove restaurants, royalty, religion, renting rooms, groceries, golf, gasoline, chemical consumption, choice in cars, politics, pedophiles, and personally packaged products to start surgically altering society's malformed existence.

Read news articles from other countries. not English written, but translated. Look at how their states and medias manipulate them, too.

With hand over your heart, swear fealty to a cloth with colors on it. Your imaginary boundary line with emotional symbolism attached to it, is better than their lines and their symbols. Swear fealty by singing the special song at the same time. the 'Horst Wessel Lied'('Star Spangled Banner').

The system is a late stage capitalist, socialist, authoritarian, totalitarian, corporate oligarchical, paracosmic venn diagram.

Lose your earthly attachment(s). Enter the void, empty. Become like water.

You know why old people get restless without a job? Because they have been conditioned their entire lives to be an employee and have been taught that people who sit at home are considered lazy though they may possess a mental potential greater than their physical labor is "worth".

People that can barely afford gas dollars are idolizing people who spend $25,000+ on a single piece of body jewelry.

As long as wealth is a thing, poverty will be too.

No, the customer is not always right. Punch them in the head for being petty.

Is our existence as purposeless, cheap labor acceptable because we get packaged food, internet, and plastic/metal things with logos on them like XBoxes and cars?

Freedom in this society is freedom to choose your own slavery. Freedom of religion is freedom to choose your own mental slavery. Hourly employment is freedom to choose your own physical slavery. If you don't choose, then you don't get to eat in this life or whatever afterlife you 'chose' from the paracosm brochure.

Fear of guilt of having chose yourself over your loved ones, keeps you working wasting your mind and body for a corporate dollar. If you think about it, clocking in makes life harder for everyone, makes our existence a plastic replica of a copy of a rich person's vision of the world.

On television they liberate labor camps. In society we clock in to them.

America(verb): to voluntarily relinquish your freedom for a false sense of safety and security after being conditioned to fear everything in your environment.

The badge is not gestapo, the uniform is not gestapo. The individual that binds his mind and his sense of self to a flag, the badge, and/or the uniform - is.

You can't not want to be ID'd by police and stop human trafficking at the same time.

If you have thoughts that aren't statist, keep them to yourself. The crusades, inquisitions, witch hunts, jew hunts, and totalitarian regimes removing threats(often by just labeling them terrorists) are not make believe or in distant history.

Do you keep participating in politics and religion which keep you mentally submissive as the cheap labor, or do you actually make change in your environment? If you vote you delegate the problems down. If you pray you then pretend to delegate them up to an imaginary friend - thinking that deity is clearing them up in the background while you go to work at McDonald's or the local factory. It's control, labor, revenue.

What would happen, what type of life would exist and flourish if all beings that consumed other beings were terminated?

If you look at cities from the sky at night, they are an infection, a scab on the planet.

State and federal law? What is the system then with different rules for different people in different parts of the nation and different sentencing guidelines for the same crimes, different wording for corporations and the state to get their way at cost to us?

Humans evolve and adapt, how far outside the realm of possibility is it that our bodies are being conditioned to be cheap labor and eat garbage? Would it not be better for all of life if we adapted to synthetic sustenance?

If I have the knowledge they lack and they act on their ignorance, is not then my reaction the most culpable? Society is stupid and often willfully ignorant. Is the 'willfully' part justification for releasing anger on them?

Police are quick to beat on handcuffed people but to this day I can't find a single officer to take his badge off and square up for a fair one.

Someone in law enforcement reading this will volunteer for a fair one just to try and discredit the previous statement.

Voting at all is support for whatever decisions the state makes.

The statist and the fearful are the conformists, the ones that usher in the totalitarian state. The ones that can't tell what's fact and what's fiction in their own environment...they will default to the state. They are your enemy. Their fear will decide their morality, not their paradigms or empathy if they even have any.

Rage and a conscience are proven to move mountains...can emotion and logic find a proper balance?

me: "please stop that behavior"

them: *continues behavior

me: "please...stop...I'm starting to get angry"

them: *continues behavior

me: "I'm getting ready to snap, stop"

them: "help, help, I'm being threatened!!"

You have almost the entire collection of mankind's knowlegde at your fingertips.
Ignorance is a choice or laziness.

People get more angry at me using profanity than they do the suffering of others around them.

Dollar Tree asked me to buy school supplies for military children. I said no. Here's why: What's the military budget for then? Killing other cultures' children while abandoning the basic needs of our own? Guilt the slaves into dying for money and oil, then guilting the other slaves into providing that family's basic needs? That way the state can spend all your tax money on weapons.

I look at the general public when I am in town and I am like - is this really the same species that created wifi and airplanes from things found outside?

Hunting is for cowards. Give the deer a gun and some camo, some human pheromones, opposable thumbs, and the ability to predict through reason. Then it'll be halfway fair.

You say society is stupid, yet you want most of them to decide things for you and you trust surveyed statistics. The lack of cognitive function would be hilarious if it didn't have such drastic societal/individual consequences.

Roaches and mosquitoes are not cute and cuddly. just like most humans. Also, they didn't ask to be here, either. Just because something is small, you are afraid, or you don't understand its purpose or existence doesn't mean kill...humans for all their intelligence, may still be the most primitive of all.

Being cheap labor to get your basic needs met is still slavery whether you label it hourly employment or adulthood.

Often my cat and I are just two beings in a box making sounds at each other.

You don't need electricity to read a fucking book.

Suffering is necessary, but never in abundance. Suffering is growing, developing with reluctance.

I am nowhere near considered an elite:

coder.
hardware hacker.
social engineer.
pentester.
mathematician.
sentiment/data analyst.

In fact in one of those areas I'm remedial, one way less than average, another just so-so. I do sincerely believe however, that a jack of all trades has greater potential for problem resolution with a broad range of skills at a lower level of mastery than a person considered elite regarding one specific skill at wizard status. Don't limit yourself as a human because corporations, the state, religions, and/or peers tell you to.

No gang member is open to evidence against their gang. Republican, democrat, christian, muslim, black, white, crip, blood...logic and reason battle symbolism.

If you collect child support you don't get to celebrate independence day(genocide day).

How are totalitarian states built? With the ability to dehumanize others and invalidate their suffering/anger, and the support of viewers like you.

Many americans have a garbage diet of fast food, fear, fraudulence, fear, faith, and fear.

If RSA is broken, child predators can't move their material but neither can corporations or governments.

A human life is not worth more than the life of a spider. An arachnid life is not worth more than a human life. Only humans and their fear, humans and their concept of value and self would destroy to 'save'.

No politician is for us. Stop looking for a savior, someone to worship and follow. Take responsibility for your own existence.

I saw a gorgeous butterfly eating bird shit.

Stop telling kids rainbows are magical and start telling kids rainbows are reflection, refraction, and dispersion of light in water droplets resulting in a spectrum of light appearing in the sky. That's just as awe inducing for a young mind. Fairy tales make dumb adults. Santa, jesus, the easter bunny... it's almost like you want stupid humans walking around having power over things and being able to make choices that affect everyone. Life is suffering but a make believe world is not the answer.

There are real world solutions, then there are emotionally placating symbolic gestures.

Who is 'they'? 99% of the time the state. Every 3 seconds someone gets arrested. The state is exploiting us, not protecting us.

Boot(noun): tool/shield for the rich.

You can't use someone's anger at what you did, to play victim. Anger does not equal guilt or take away from what you did.

I am a Jain extremist. I will beat your ass for hurting animals.

I'm not a coward and that makes me the minority and why I keep losing to strength in numbers despite the evidence.

They accused me of being a monster when I wasn't. maybe I should bring him out for a round of double jeopardy?

Tell people you are afraid of someone you aren't. Then just walking by them in the hallway becomes a heroic act in the eyes of others.

If your best interest and freedom were really what your religion and government were about... why is your submission demanded through force and/or fear?

To not believe in god is to know that it falls on us to make the world a better place.

In this society, calling people on their negative behavior is considered attacking them.

To misquote Fishburne - '...residential self image, the mental projection of your commercial self...'

---

Murder is illegal but slowly working people to death at a factory is acceptable and encouraged.

Classifying such complex architectures as human beings into one word labels permits dehumanization.

Corporations beg for our dollars like they're the ones living paycheck to paycheck. Oh, that's right, they do. Yours.

Is social media what baudrillard would consider pure simulacrum?

Free yourself of the narrative story of your life. Memory often cripples, binding us to the frozen past.

The more people with academic credentials, the less academia itself is worth.

The only way to generate more wealth for corporations is to ensure high demand for absurd and unnecessary things.

Inmates get food, a toilet, and a place to sleep. The homeless get told "no restroom" even though going outside is a sex case.

Only weak minds need a deity.

Hypocrites usually know, so I listen.

You wouldn't exist without incest.

Human(noun): parasite that destroys everything in its environment while preaching sanctity of life.

America is three corporations with a military.

"We want equality!!!" Uhh...you misspelled preferential treatment.

How many corporations would go out of business if women learned to value themselves?

If I question my mental health by saying my current state is the effect caused by past events making me a product of environment(we all are), and by vocalizing that I don't function the same mentally or process the same emotionally as this ridiculous society of cheap labor, xenophobia, religion, sexual depravity, gangs, and doctrine - then it further cements society's view that I am the one who functions incorrectly.

Those who bind their minds to a symbol lose their sense of self.

For a society so morally against oppression, you sure do worship the fuck out of rich people.

Many fast food employees are positive spirits. Imagine what they could do for humanity if their jobs weren't shit and unnecessary.

Luxury and conservation of resources are mutually exclusive.

'Go forth and multiply'. You did that. You can stop.

---

Seems most amber alerts are just parents trying to keep their kids away from this brutal joke of a court system.

Felon does not mean criminal. It doesn't not either.

Start mourning no names instead of the rich and famous.

None of us chose to exist, why can't we just be left the fuck alone?

The poor dying for the tiffs, tariffs, and tantrums of the rich. So, pretty much business as usual for the planet, then...

You can protest all you want but the moment you voted, you gave your government authority to act on your behalf.

Who exactly is at war in the middle east? I know I am not yet I have to live accordingly. Absurd.

If people are not permitted to experience their full existence how could they produce anything necessary for/from it, without any of the data or materials?

If you stopped trying to 'be' things, you wouldn't require the acceptance of others.

We need police, but we need them to apprehend people that rape kids not enforce city ordinance 3.13 section (e) subparagraph (a) that CLEARLY states you owe the state money for parking your already taxed to the ass vehicle in front of THEIR buildings ($.25 for fifteen minutes now or $273 for all the time you need that day, in the mail later) and state statute 134.2 that says if a 'peace' officer sees a guy smoking weed and he's having a bad day on the beat, he can not only beat his ass and take it from him, but he can take his freedom for it, too. crimes are no longer crimes. crimes are revenue generation, arbitrary wording of rich politicians and the police have become palace guards. If a societal path diversion was to happen it would have already. Industry and revenue are killing us and the police enforce it. I can't predict the future but...I do read a lot of historical books and I pay attention to my environments long term. If you don't stop buying shit and the police don't start making a stand by only enforcing genuine laws that have victims and hurt people(rape, murder, home invasions, etc) then I think as a society - we're done. Mind you, there are those who do extremely well in this system and/or are afraid so they will not have that and at your expense.

Regarding a human's mental and progressive evolution, base primitive urges and emotions cloud judgement and shift focus. If humans focused on introspection, cleaning up our environment, and finding new sustainable forms of energy instead of bonding with even more people and creating exponentially more children to exist in a world that is rapidly breaking down because people vote and pray for resolution instead of acting, we might actually get somewhere. Get your codependency on though, bro...

I was walking by a store. The owner came out and threw trash on the sidewalk. I picked it up and I took it back in. I pretended like I was looking for something to buy and then just set it on the floor and left.

America does aggressive shit, then plays victim when others react. It's like the united states learned from my son's mother's playbook.

Through unjust civil and criminal courts the state has created an army of victims.

Sometimes I miss relationships but then I remember that humans say words that are often wrapped in feelings and deceptions and petty wants.

If one person's income is dependent on the other person spending their income, why even do it in the first place?

Look back on a debate you had last year. have you thought about how you felt during it, since then? It doesn't matter.

We each have one existence. It is stolen by corporations, religion, and politics. Not mine.

Even our impoverished are fat and entitled.

If police stopped responding to petty calls, pretend victims would be much less inclined to start shit.

I will say the aesops fable about jesus saying sell all your shit and go be free or whatever was on point.

Choosing a religion or politician is you getting to pick the color of your shackles.

Stargate SG-1 teaches a more sound moral code than the bible and quran do.

If people focused more on what they needed to do instead of how they looked doing it...

If you need someone to rally behind, you will always be at war with each other. Someone will always want a different leader.

Trusting nothing your gvernement tells you is just as lazy as trusting everything your government tells you.

If everyone stops taking plea deals because it's 'easier', it will cause a buffer overflow and the courts of injustice shut down.

Every attorney is, by title, an officer of the court.

Police work for the district attorney's office. Period. That is where their loyalties will always lie.

Any officer who has ever written a speeding ticket is guilty of extortion.

You are an adult, you can disappear into the forest right this minute if you chose to.

How can I enjoy a bite of fresh bread knowing at every moment there are people that have zero things to eat?

Assume there is something greater than ourselves for this stanza. The body is pain. Having a body is pain. Pain and discomfort. Then there's boredom. Why is life suffer and time? Maybe we have a body because it is to get us accustomed to boredom in the nebulae and to understand what pain is. That is irrational for two reasons.

- 1) Animals. they suffer as well. I don't deserve anything more or less than they do. Unless Bostrom is correct on some level.
- 2) I keep trying to find a purpose for not just our, but MY existence. Not everyone's life is time and suffer. Many have a thrilling, luxurious existence from birth to death.

While you're busy hating one politician, the ones you love are fucking you in the ass.

Me being a part of society's problem, I change my own behavior instead of voting for others to change theirs.

In a society that throws away everything after tiring of it quickly, why would they treat each other any different?

If you vote, you approve of whatever decisions your government makes globally.

Politics only works when the slaves identify with their masters.

If your environment is stressful, anxious, unstable...you are more likely to see illusory patterns in life.

If you need a religion or state to be moral, then you cannot handle free will.

Humans often allow other humans' shit behavior because they want to have sex with them.

Of course anyone who challenges this system of profiteering from suffering needs to seek mental health treatment.

My son's mother is one of the only animals in history and existence that depend on their offspring for survival.

Media & state employees allow injustice daily. Why? They value their job over what's morally sound. It's the late 1930's again.

Single cell organism = bible false.

The United States trains children for prison early. If they behave in solitary they can eat in the cafeteria with the other inmates. Controlled movements, uniforms, curriculum, etc.

If you have never seen Schindler's List, you are probably going to see the live rendition in your lifetime.

Be afraid and give him money every Sunday but he only wants to protect you? Are you sure your chosen deity is not with the mafia?

The state always uses puppies and children to curry public favor. In chicago a dog swears, in human style, on a book of human totalitarian laws that make us fight each other, to uphold those laws. The dog is sworn into office.

Ohio passed a bill allowing students' answers to be wrong due to religion.

In our society, a bully can be beating up a kid but if you separate them, the bully's mom can press assault charges on you.

Things Americans pretend to know everything about? What happens after you die, themselves, and what is best for you.

Public schools call greek gods mythology. A zombie born to a virgin, walking on water, and generating food from nothing isn't?

Voting is trying to fix a garbage engine by changing the pain job every four years.

No society can achieve a state of peace and enlightenment through fear and forced servitude.

The adventures, heroes, magic, love, battles, creatures, and worlds in movies and games - does it not make our own lives seem empty?

District attorneys are the epitomes of feigned morality. The state has the only exact definition of a relative concept.

Ghost hunters are allowed and pedophile hunters are not. Ghosts are make believe, pedophiles are not. We can't hunt real monsters.

In 1912 White Star Line paid the Titanic employees only up until the moment it sank.

Stop making houses out of wood and start using all that plastic and those tires we can't find anywhere to 'throw away'.

Prayer is a symptom of schizophrenia.

We think it's awesome when the handicapped get hourly employment but that just means the handicapped are being used as slaves too.

Tipping is for employer benefit at customer and employee expense.

I no longer have kernel taint.

"What is the difference between ignorance and apathy?" "Don't know, don't care".

Sometimes I wish Jesus and those guys were real then I'd at least feel there was a purpose for our suffering.

Name one politician or lawmaker that isn't wealthy.

In high school was your class president able to stop the excess homework, bullies, etc or did he need those, so you'd vote for him?

At least the slaves have their trinkets, their bonds with their fellow man are intangible.

America uses the worst case scenario to justify banning anything. except for cars, religion, fast food. it is profit vs acceptable loss.

No matter what religion you follow, fear is your god.

Knowledge is for sale, what is the cost?
All of our lives in debt to become a jack of no trades, apprentice of one.

Which is more important with our one existence - developing towards one's full potential or becoming a conforming member of this cheap labor society?

If you don't like semi trucks in traffic, stop buying things.

Just by sitting and doing zero things, that makes you morally better than half the population by default.

Please stop confusing misanthropy with misogyny.

This section is some of my hacks:

Hack no. 1: Grady County Federal Detention Center:

The inmate kiosks use a restricted ThinBuntu operating system. The system was setup so that when the kiosk loaded, it booted directly into a Firefox add-on. Inmates could not access any part of Firefox or the Desktop. Using HTML injection I was able to bypass the Firefox restrictions and access the desktop and the root folder.

1. After logging in as yourself[inmate] click on Law Library.
2. In the Fast Case search box turn the query to a link that refers to the SSL enabled site(the local domain *.sjm) like so:
`random text`
3. Click the link that shows up in the results.
4. A button that says "Get me out of here" appears. Click it.

5. A fresh Firefox page loads. At the bottom, click Extensions.
6. Disable the add-on that limits the menu/tool bars.
7. Click Restart Firefox.
8. Under customize, there is an 'Open file...' button. This allows you to open any Firefox readable file in the root directory.

Hack no. 2: Land-listings.com:

I was looking for a cheap house on a cheap acre of land. They have them. Cheap. Then I realized, they are just investments for some. I remind you there are more empty homes than homeless. These banks and real estate profiteers hold basic needs hostage for manual labor. Your money is only as real as the next person thinks it is. Foreclosed homes of the poor in southern states flood the listing sites. This is not going where you think it is. I kept getting emails well after I unsubscribed, turned off notifications, etc. It is fixed now, but the site admin kept saying it was a GoDaddy issue. Still kept getting daily emails. I could block it, but when things in the cyberworld don't behave as expected I pay attention. Finally I do some exploration and because of agreement I can't disclose the steps, but I found the admin db credentials. I got a thanks on the about page. The site admin fixed all of the issues and quickly. All sites have some sort of vulnerability. Having one shouldn't hurt reputation what should is if they do nothing to patch it. Paul handled things exceptionally well and few site admins have responded as promptly or efficiently.

The screenshot shows the homepage of Land-Listings.com. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for "Find Land", "Sell Land", "Land Wanted", "Directory", "Advertise", "Register", and "Login". Below the navigation bar, there is a red-bordered box containing a message of appreciation for Brent Elsens. To the right of this box, there is a sidebar with various statistics and a link to see more numbers. The main content area below the sidebar lists states in four columns: Alaska, Iowa, Minnesota, Ohio, Utah; Alabama, Idaho, Missouri, Oklahoma, Virginia; Arkansas, Illinois, Mississippi, Oregon, Virgin; Arizona, Indiana, Montana, Pennsylvania, Islands; California, Kansas, North, Puerto Rico, Washington; Colorado, Kentucky, Carolina, Rhode, Wisconsin; Connecticut, Louisiana, New, Island, West; Florida, Massachusetts, Hampshire, South, Virginia; Georgia, Maryland, New, Carolina, Wyoming; Hawaii, Michigan, New, Jersey, South; New, Dakota; Mexico, Tennessee; Nevada, Texas; New York.

Special appreciation for Brent

<Accessing other members messages and personal data>:

The function that retrieves user messages starts with an `OPTIONS` request of 0 bytes. It is immediately followed by a `GET` request to retrieve how many unread messages I have. Altering the `GET` request, the response is a `JSON` object showing how many messages, but no content:

The screenshot shows a browser's developer tools with the "JSON" tab selected. At the top right is a "Raw" toggle switch. Below it, under the heading "data: Object { newConversations: 1 }", there is a single entry: "newConversations: 1". At the bottom of the panel are tabs for Errors, Warnings, Logs, Info, Debug, CSS, XHR, Requests, and other developer tools.

So then I started on the OPTIONS request and by again inserting random user/conversation ID values, the JSON response included the message content this time:

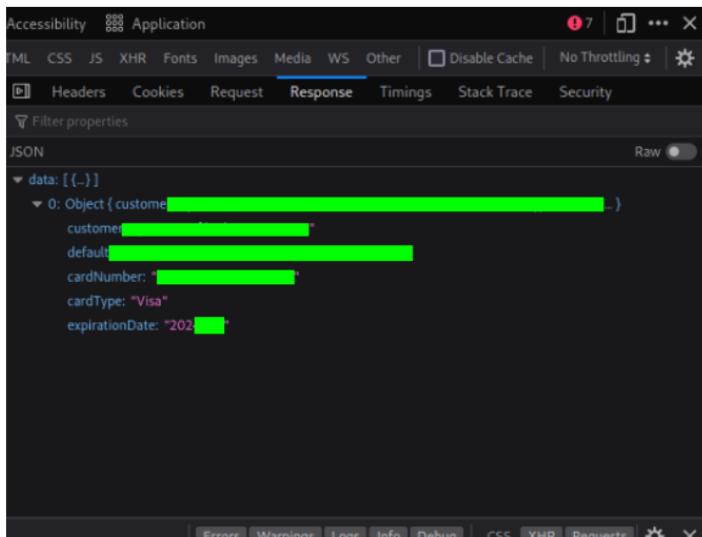

The screenshot shows a browser's developer tools with the "JSON" tab selected. At the top right is a "Raw" toggle switch. The response object includes the following fields:

- message: "Want to be a small etc"
- read: "yes"
- state: "active"
- unreadNotification: "2023-03-10 05:05:26"
- timestamp: "2023-03-10 05:05:26"
- updated_at: "2023-03-10T15:44:25.000000Z"
- created_at: "2023-03-10T11:05:26.000000Z"
- user: Object { userID: " ", userName: " " }

At the bottom of the panel are tabs for Errors, Warnings, Logs, Info, Debug, CSS, XHR, Requests, and other developer tools.

Next I started changing the host/URL values on the GET request and by doing the same thing, with random user/conversation IDs, the JSON response included the credit card information:

The screenshot shows the Network tab of a browser's developer tools. The tab bar includes Accessibility, Application, Headers, Cookies, Request, Response, Timings, Stack Trace, and Security. The Response tab is selected. Below it, there is a JSON viewer. The JSON structure is as follows:

data: [{}]
  0: Object { customerID: "1234567890", defaultCard: "1234567890123456", cardNumber: "4111111111111111", cardType: "Visa", expirationDate: "2024-01" }

The card number and expiration date fields contain sensitive information that has been redacted with green bars.

Too many judgments in court are arbitrary and based on things that are not guilt or innocence and usually biased towards the state. Harsher sentences or lighter sentences depending on what smaller, nationalist boundary you reside in, what color your skin is, how much revenue you generate, assets owned, or even how long it had been since the presiding, gowned ass authority stuffed something down their nationalist gullet.

<https://www.scientificamerican.com/article/leniency/>

America's construct is putrid, the rank scent of xenophobia, nationalism, dehumanization, exploitation, fear, manifest destiny, and the inertia fallacy. On the face though, its citizens scream justice, peace, and freedom. Garbage. Misnomers. Transparent at that. Peace is a lucrative misnomer for "prerequisite for war". Justice is a lucrative misnomer for "state sanctioned vengeance". Freedom is lucrative misnomer for "a lifetime of factory labor with snacks and an XBox". The allegory of the caves. Tell humans born into the cave they are free and they will believe this is what freedom is. It is all they know. That is another reason the American construct is so disgusting. Oligarchs, plutocrats, and other politicians/CEOs rely on the general public not understanding their environment. Rational people don't do Democrat or Republican things. Rational people do not identify as anything let alone a geographical boundary or a gender that doesn't exist. Irrational people are generally easily controllable and the few that aren't, get forced by police. Pronoun people are a problem. Not because they are gay but because they are trying to force a pretend construct around it that I also am required to participate in. Yet another example of irrational garbage filling up a courtroom. Imagine not just existing with your loved one, but demanding the state intervene and license you to do so. People with valid grievance that get no recourse/justice from the authority's castles move to social media to present their cases to the public. They are getting silenced and for arbitrary things. I, just as everyone else being silenced, have had mental movies of destroying Musk, Zuckerberg, Shou Zi Chew, Steve Huffman, etc but as with my maxim on politicians: Targeting specific employees and arrest & replace solve nothing, it only perpetuates the system. My videos on TikTok of police brutality that catch momentum all of a sudden get removed for "hateful ideology" or "dangerous acts". Yeah, being jumped by police for not using a sidewalk on a street with no sidewalk is really "hateful ideology" or "dangerous acts". The same video was banned on Facebook for "nudity & sexual activity". I mean, I was rectum-punched by Bangor boots, but we all had clothes on:

Police Jump Me On The Way Home From Work For Not Walking On A Sidewalk On A Street With No Sidewalk
American nationalist enforcers are out of control.

Challenging police during my own traffic stop about their 'extortion as protection' racket to fund themselves as they enforce it with violence & call it

'safety' is not 'hateful ideology'. I am challenging the hateful ideology. If I posted a video telling police to "go confiscate those dangerous wages from the lower classes!" I doubt it would get a ban.

Corporations and the state tag team us so that they maintain a mother/father type of dominion over us:

Prosecutors pretend to champion victims. The general public, only concerned for their snacks and XBoxes, begs the rich to take away anyone that challenges their precious comforts, excess, waste, and toys. Prosecutors consider themselves heroes, but who are gods with no one to worship them? If 'crime' stopped, they would be like us, regular nobodies. Their employment wouldn't exist. It therefore behooves prosecutors to never let crime stop. The system they enforce CREATES 'criminals'. The amount of revenue generated by the 'criminal' 'justice' system eclipses the GDP of 133 countries. Most other countries are apathetically aware of America's police/court brutality & abuse problem. Google scholar has numerous articles about it. Every person that wears a state uniform/suit does negative labor while they prey on those doing the cheap, actual, manual labor. "I have a state title!" or "I am me!" so I do not have to do the toilets or factory production or customer service. "That's for the addicts, the thieves, prostitutes, and other victims of the system I enforce!" Prosecutors are disgusting creatures that pretend they are clean, socially elevated, and humans without sick habits. Every prosecutor that has destroyed innocent lives should rot in a box for life. This is almost all of them because they wouldn't maintain employment for long if they didn't enforce system garbage. The depraved humans don't justify police doing what they do to everyone else, especially when many of the depraved humans are police. Nuremberg 2.0 is en route. The sprawling criminal code scribbled by rich suits trying to maintain their obscene authority is making a 'criminal' of almost everyone. Eventually, society will be divided into two groups. Nationalist, police state loving, fearful, politician and system worshiping degenerates versus the ones being trampled by them. A small number of people with an entire military versus a large number of people forced to do the manual labor for them while being dehumanized by them. Make sure you are on the existentially moral side. If you beg rich masters while sucking their bald eagle dick, you're probably not a shining example of "intellectual being".

THE STATE IS A MAFIA
THE NEWS IS PROPAGANDA
DEMOCRACY IS MOB RULE
POLITICS IS A CHARADE
TAXATION IS THEFT
RIGHTS ARE NOT GRANTED BY THE GOVERNMENT

1. Injustice Remedy & Time.

By the time an injustice by state officials is 'remedied' by another state official(usually with hush money from the taxed wages of others having injustices committed against them by state officials) - countless other injustices by state officials are committed across the country. System-wide depravity with no recourse. The amendments and appeal success rate show that to this day the system is wrong and can't get it correct. The state would rather get some innocent people than let a single guilty person go, however - it does both and more so than were they willing to let some guilty go instead of getting a single innocent. Law of inertia - too many state suits are comfortable with their luxuries and authority so why would they restart the system removing bloatware and injustices? The recidivism and crime rates show that incarceration is not successful. Legislation and tyranny do not solve social issues. They create them while profiting from them as their ranchhand police keep the livestock submissive and complacent, generating revenue for master. Most situations police claim to protect people from - at random let's just say a stand-off bank robbery - wouldn't have occurred were they not enforcing such a depraved system for their rich, leash-holding, suit ass masters at our existential expense. They call themselves 'heroes' for weak attempts at mitigating fires they started.

2. Etymology, Changing Definitions, and Manipulation.

Guilty and Innocent. Most ‘crimes’ in this society are not existentially valid. In other words, were we not forced to compete for resource crumbs by expending our existence as cheap labor for the suits, crime would not be what it is. Much social strife would also be alleviated. You shouldn’t beg police to destroy others just because you’re intellectually, emotionally, mentally, and courageously invalid with no fortitude. Many people call the police for petty, trivial, absurd things that should land the caller in a box if incarceration is mandatory. The smell of the neighbor’s BBQ for example. I don’t eat meat. I hate hunters. However, I don’t use my personal disgust for human mental defectives as excuse to send boots after them. I have had police called on me for being annoying when the other person was. Two busted basehead broads in Bangor were bumping boyz2men on a boombox. I knock on their door and tell them to be respectful of others and not to do it anymore. They send boots after me. Some days later, 3 thugs were doing the same thing. I couldn’t call the 2 girls on their garbage behavior but then hide from the thugs. The thugs turned it down and said they would keep it down.

Until I got down the street then they cranked it again. So I had to go back. 3 on 1, the toughest of them pulled a knife. I advanced not worried about it, he backed up and they all three brisk-walked down towards the jail, the way they came with their stereo off. I am not the toughest person on the planet. I do however, sometimes with fear and risk to my body, try to resolve my own social issues without involving the nationalist, militant, system enforcers and sending my enemy's family through the Securus, GTEL, Tiger, Aramark, JPay, CenturyLink, TRULINCS, & ICSolutions exploitation gauntlet. Who is guilty in those situations? Who is innocent? Of what?

Every day these issues all across society. These militant stupids don't have the skill, intellect, ability, or permission to sort out our social issues except to profit for their leash-holding, suit ass masters. If I had taken the dude's knife and used it on him, by Maine's arbitrary wording I would be guilty because I could have, instead of defending myself, run away and begged their enforcers to come kill him and do the things I mentioned about profiteering and social domination. Watch Chomsky's lecture on American Imperialism at Boston College.

Every arrest & court case equals state revenue and control, furthering social division. Why? Because you - unable to resolve your own social issues - got emotional, wanted to hurt someone without actually touching them, and instead let the politicians and their nationalist enforcers do it. You perfect little 1920s Italian and 1930s German citizen you! If you vote, stop claiming to resist. You perpetuate it while claiming to do the opposite. Your daily behaviors are complacent while most around you are suffering. Begging rich people to solve your social issues with their police always, eventually results in system tyranny by its representatives & enforcers. Many people think Hitler & Mussolini stole power or conquered with force. Absolutely not the case. The cheap labor force begged the tyrants to save them from the rest of the cheap labor force. When you dehumanize others in your social class/caste, you give obscene power to abusive authority. If someone just broke into your home and you are dying or they are, that is a time you call the boots. If someone doesn't do the boots' work for them, they couldn't function. They can't get there in time. You would have to know a home invasion is coming before it happens and alert them. The feds couldn't function without informants.

---

Police get called 'heroes' just for doing the bare minimum. For example, by the state media loudspeaker (Kennebec Journal/Morning Sentinel/CentralMaine) and then by social media boot worshipers, one of the lying boots in my case was celebrated as a hero for finding a lost guy that the plow person had already seen. Any boot on patrol in his luxurious SUV responding to the call would have found the person. He was doing the bare minimum requirement of his job and is hailed a 'hero'. That's how low the bar is to be american police 'heroes'. The indoctrination problem is much more severely rooted in American minds than I thought even as little as a year ago. There are thousands of other people missing that aren't low-hanging fruits.

3. Authoritarian/boot worship rhetoric.

The Blue Stripe Bandits' groupies love saying these repeated things as a weak attempt to 'justify' the system-wide depravity by American police. Here are also their refutations.

1. "Without police enforcing rules, we wouldn't be safe."

This is false. It is because police enforce rules that we are not only unsafe but exist only as purposeless, existentially unnecessary labor for rich suits. The five actual monsters the system helps create and profit from do not justify systemwide police depravity and war on the poor. Extortion enforced with violence is not safety. That is mafia behavior. Traffic tickets are extortion through and through. The first speeding ticket was in 1904. It does not stop speeding, it just generates boot revenue to hire more nationalist, militant enforcers to extort us in traffic harder. This is morally reprehensible behavior especially considering that cars/drivers cause 3700+ deaths daily, that's not including the wildlife and then the resources wasted for mostly unnecessary things.

2. "Brent is just an angry criminal with a vendetta against police!"

This is false on several levels. First, anger is not guilt and in fact complacency is what permits authoritarian abuse of others. After you question my anger, please make sure to question your complacency. Second, I am not a criminal. The only 'crimes' that would have been actual crimes against life were they true were made up by my son's mother in an emergency custody attempt for state benefits with her other 4 children from different fathers. The Silver Bullet strategy it is called, apparently. They are lies and I showed so in federal court during Varnell's trial. I currently have weekends with my son granted by a separate robed authority. Evidence is on my site. Third, if I had a vendetta against police many of them would have been executed long ago. I would not have booked Varnell and instead directed him towards a precinct over a bank or data center. In this society, resisting abusive authority that is exploiting, beating, and killing others gets you labeled by their cockscrews as having a vendetta. The police have the vendettas against certain people and that is shown in countless examples across society in recorded conversations, videos, and their own admissions in them. I can't sit away in snacks and comfort while so many around me are suffering. I challenge obscene authority when it enters my frame of vision, interferes with my existence or that of others, etc. That is not a vendetta. That is existing causing the least amount of suffering and stopping injustice when it rears its oppressive, authoritarian head. In my videos policing police, you can hear me saying things like "Fuck, I did NOT want to DO THIS TODAY!" It is however, morally mandatory. I cannot, with a conscience clean, let someone be extorted, oppressed, and trampled by an authority that was put in place to protect them, without doing something to stop it.

---

3. "Fear, what if, fear, bad guys, fear, flag, song, fear, hand salute, fear, bald eagle garbage, fear..."

That one refutes itself. They are Reinhard Gehlen progeny.

In late 1945, following the 7 May surrender of Germany and the start of the Cold War, the U.S. military (G-2 Intelligence) recruited him to establish the Gehlen Organisation, an espionage network focusing on the Soviet Union. The organisation would employ former military officers of the Wehrmacht as well as former intelligence officers of the Schutzstaffel (SS) and the Sicherheitsdienst (SD).<sup>[3]</sup> As head of the Gehlen Organization he sought cooperation with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), formed in 1947, resulting in the Gehlen Organization ultimately becoming closely affiliated with the CIA.

4. "I have family that are nationalist enforcers, they aren't all bad apples."

First, family bias is no excuse for what police do to us. Second, they all enforce the system which dehumanizes us, exploits us, and replaces us the moment we die. The few good apples these stupids are talking about can't do anything or they get X'd out like all gangs do to those that betray their tyrant symbolism:

The state has numerous ways to silence 'malcontents', 'dissenters', 'rebels', 'terrorists', 'lunatics', or any other name they try to label those they oppress with to rally the voting(master begging) slaves against. These authoritarian degenerates with badges are killing our existence and removing any chance we have to coexist. The nationalist enforcers are relentless and petty. They have met their anti-tyrant, anti-fascist, anti-communist, anti-nationalist match. Obscene authority's limits are always determined by the consent of those subjected to it. We are all afraid of them. Some of us have courage through fear. Others choose their personal comforts and conveniences over the suffering of others. Your complacency and submission is their obscene authority. The flag-waving mental invalidity of their worshipers continues it as well. We are trapped hard but we can escape this dehumanizing construct.

Please open your preferred web browser of choice and go to Google Scholar [ scholar.google.com ]. Then enter this as your query: american police brutality. Then do a normal google search for unarmed black people killed by police.

Date	Name	Age	City	Description
March 31, 1870	Henry Truman	26	Philadelphia, Pennsylvania	Officer John Whiteside chased Truman into an alley after a shoplifting. When Truman asked the officer what he did wrong, Whiteside shot him. Whiteside was found guilty of manslaughter. <sup>[1]</sup>
March 25, 1938	Berry Lawson	21	Seattle, Washington	Three officers beat Lawson to death after removing him from the hotel he worked at. The officers claimed Lawson fell down the stairs and attempted to bribe a witness, but all three were tried and convicted of manslaughter. <sup>[2]</sup>
July 26, 1941	Harrison Ware	49	Kansas City, Missouri	White officers Charles LaBaugh and Dewey Ellis shot and killed Ware at a club before stealing money from his pockets. LaBaugh and Ellis were indicted on second-degree murder charges but were found not guilty in 1942. <sup>[3]</sup>
January 29, 1943	Robert "Bobby" Hall	Unknown	Baker County, Georgia	Sheriff Claude Screws beat Hall to death after he allegedly stole a tire. Screws was convicted of violating Hall's civil rights but it was overturned by the United States Supreme Court.
February 2, 1958	Daniel Bell	22	Milwaukee, Wisconsin	Bell fled a traffic stop because he had no license. Officer Thomas Grady shot him and planted a knife on the scene, claiming Bell had lunged at him. Two decades later, the other officer on scene admitted that Grady planted the weapon, and he was convicted of reckless homicide and perjury in 1979. <sup>[4]</sup>
October 25, 1959	Luther Jackson	27	Philadelphia, Pennsylvania	Jackson, a veteran of the Korean War, was shot and killed by Officer Lawrence A. Rainey as he exited his vehicle. Rainey would later gain notoriety for his alleged involvement in the Freedom Summer murders. <sup>[5]</sup>
April 9, 1962	Roman Ducksworth Jr.	30	Taylorsville, Mississippi	Ducksworth, a military police officer, was shot and killed by Taylorsville Police Officer William Kelly after he fell asleep on a bus to get to the hospital as his child was born. <sup>[6]</sup>
September 15, 1963	Johnny Robinson	16	Birmingham, Alabama	During unrest over the 16th Street Baptist Church bombing, Robinson and several others threw rocks at a car draped with the Confederate Flag. Officer Jack Parker shot Robinson but claimed that he had only fired a warning shot. Two juries chose not to indict Parker for the shooting. <sup>[7]</sup>
February 26, 1965	Jimmie Lee Jackson	26	Marion, Alabama	During a peaceful voting rights rally, Alabama State Trooper James Bonard Fowler shot Jackson after another threw him against a cigarette machine. Fowler was not named as the shooter until 2005, and he pled guilty to manslaughter in 2010, serving six months in prison. <sup>[8]</sup>
May 7, 1966	Leonard Deadwyler	25	Los Angeles, California	Deadwyler was speeding as he drove to the hospital with his wife, who was in labor. An officer shot Deadwyler, claiming the vehicle had lurched forward. A coroner's jury later ruled the shooting an accidental homicide.
September 27, 1966	Matthew Johnson	16	San Francisco, California	Patrolman Alvin Johnson (no relation) shot Matthew as he ran away. The shooting sparked riots in the Hunters Point neighborhood.

As you can see, police hating the lower classes and making up any reason to kill knowing their people will back them up in court is not a new issue or a conspiracy theory. It is a tired, depraved issue that people complain about until a different rich suit promises them change in the future. Rodney King was in 1991. Here is a paper explaining: "Police Accountability in the USA: Gaining Traction or Spinning Wheels?"

5. As I state about richterpräsidenten (robed tyrants) making video evidence of a murder magically not valid with a wave of their toy mallet, those that worship authority and its enforcers do the same thing. Bootmouths will say either the video is edited, it doesn't show the beginning (because everyone knows beforehand when police are about to gang up on them), or they make up any bogus excuse to make it the victim's fault. Free speech only applies to Blue Stripe Bandits and their groupies apparently. That's what happens with gangs. They will say their logo/brand is never wrong, their clubhouse is never wrong and try to convince others the same. Imagine how many black people got brutalized/killed by police before cameras and with these people on the jury. For anyone with a piece of a part of a rational domepiece, that is a frightening thought. According to many mentally defective people in society, violence is acceptable by police to enforce arbitrary wording & commands of wealthy suits. Such as not paying the state to drive your own vehicle first or fines after. If bootmouths can find anything "bad" or "negative" someone said about a person(true or false) in their past especially in legal paperwork, they can pretend anything the nationalist enforcers did, is now. This way, they need do nothing to stop an injustice that now magically doesn't exist. Apathy, denial, doctrine, depravity, dehumanization, xenophobia, class warfare, fear, and/or broken mental processing. That is what constitutes a Blue Stripe Bandit groupie. Ask them about Uvalde and watch the dereistic thoughts flourish.

---

I submit that American police are a severe social threat but their worshipers are just as severe and degenerate. Who are gods with no one indoctrinated to worship them? You would think they have never seen all the movies they cheer for the oppressed in. I see why entertainment is such a powerful tool. Cathartic resistance to tyranny. Everyone just gossips while police are exploiting and killing us as the fearful or family biased ones support them. You can easily translate many bootmouth soundbites.

"Easier to just pay and go free!"

"Just submit to authoritarian abuse and beg their robed masters later while countless other injustices are committed by police!"

"Talk nice to police or get beaten!"

"They are heroes for exploiting us and enforcing social division, you're a crazy criminal for not worshiping wealthy authority with me!"

"Your bogus DV charges that neither I nor the police knew about before stopping and jumping you, is now excuse for the police having jumped you."

<https://www.tiktok.com/@sixie6e/video/7178950341675814190>

Let's unpack every bootmouths comment on that video:

- Their precious constitution says "freedom of speech".
- The Mil-Nat system enforcers are to enforce that constitution.
- Nationalist enforcers jumping people for calling them "nazis" or "schutze" or "stupid" or "buttass" is a violation of their precious constitution.
- Nationalist enforcers taking people to jail for filming is a violation of their precious constitution.
- If you go full blue like Chris Wink then the law does not apply to you.

Sometimes the bootmouths will try to appear unbiased so they compromise in their rationale. "The police should have left him alone but he shouldn't have been rude!" See how that still backs the bitchhound blue and makes the victim the perpetrator? This defends police depravity, authoritarian abuse, war on the poor, and nationalist garbage.

4. Sustainability.

The construct enforced by nationalist, militant, badged stupids is not sustainable: Doing one task repetitively(cutting trees or laying floors), provides things their labor could never provide, while all state uniforms and suits do negative labor. In other words, if they did grueling, intense labor all day, every day for the rest of their lives they could not produce what they enjoy, consume, and use daily. Let's not forget the paper waste created by this American paracosm.

A human cutting trees all day != heat + food + water + shelter + power + XBox + TV + computers + vacuum + pet food + hygiene + medications + vehicle + lawnmower + gas + oil + fast food + entertainment + whatever else they waste their wages on.

The law of conservation of mass clearly shows that this garbage is destroying, consuming, and wasting resources. All for the material wealth of suit ass, leash-holding masters making us think we have to justify an existence we didn't ask for with manual labor for their luxuries.

The harder resource competition gets, the more depraved the nationalist, militant enforcers become with the blessings of their precious, rich masters. Everyone is conditioned to scramble for federal debt credits. Unlike the majority of the population addicted to one thing or another, I would rather starve to death than exist as cheap labor so rich people can throw themselves $100 million dollar parades and hire boots to keep it going at all costs to the general public.

From kids.britannica.com: "The law of conservation of mass is a fundamental principle of physics. According to this law, matter can be neither created nor destroyed. In other words, the mass of an object or collection of objects never changes, no matter how the parts are rearranged."

You don't go do manual labor for massa then all of a sudden there are magically more resources available than there were. It would be nice and politicians make the stupids think it's possible but it isn't. That just isn't how existence works. Here is me challenging a hillbilly that kept revving his engine blowing past me:
<https://www.youtube.com/shorts/VbgCJkXfR5s>

If you notice, when he starts talking about 'having fun' and has no valid refutation for my challenges to his mentally defective blue collar doctrine, he peels out again.

An accurate representation of police duties.

5. Logistics.

If you have already been charged with an arbitrary system infraction by a nationalist, militant enforcer, "failure to appear" in front of robed, tyrant authority so they can expedite system process with you as the product - leads to them declaring they now can dominate you harder. They use our reactions and resistance to their domination as 'excuse' to trample us harder, lock us down tighter. They will absolutely kill you for refusing to pay fines to their rich master. More incarceration time, more court dates scheduled to backlog the system, more revenue generated from your family just so they can talk to you on the phone. More court dates, more paperwork, more charges mean more hands needed on deck. It's a business of dehumanization that is expanding rapidly, consuming everything and everyone in its path. Some people have garbage attorneys that don't tell them anything. I never received my discovery until over a year later, they had me showing up on days that weren't even court dates, almost missing dates, never heard about a plea till months after they offered it, etc. There are people that live in other states that have to come back to a state they were traveling through because a boot said they went 10mph over on the interstate. Almost every person I know would just pay it so they didn't have to go back. The boots know that. They are not heroes. Boots aren't making us safe, they are EXTORTING US. The media hides it implying only 6% goes to court stuff:

6. Obscene Authority of Hearings.

If you have ever had a 'criminal' hearing, then you know that as the defendant, you don't get to speak. The attorneys are only willing to argue certain things. Let's unpack this with an example to show how the system's framework railroads almost everyone.

1. While fighting this case, my previous attorney along with Maine State Forensics (Ann LeBlanc, Liz Brodie, Jennifer Cohen) said I said things I did not say and made phone calls that I did not make. All in legal paperwork for my criminal case. I have multiple 24/7 recordings on my property. Now I have a civil suit however, a richterpräsident will find some centuries old, unrelated to what happened wording to protect his fellow state stooge. It never fails. google Elisens vs Maine State Forensics. Also you can google Elisens vs Auburn Community Hospital. They dismissed the case against ACH because I moved out of the state. What does that have to do with guilt/innocence? As with Adrian Schoolcraft, those that challenge the state with valid challenges get psych wards or prison cells. ***UPDATE: The results of the evaluation by the Director Sarah Miller, shut everyone the fuck up.

MENTAL STATUS AND CURRENT FUNCTIONING

Mr. Elisens arrived approximately 30 minutes early for his scheduled appointment in appropriate casual attire. He brought a folder of papers into the room with him as well as a self-authored book which he later gave me. He was cooperative and readily engaged in the interview. His tone tended to be sarcastic, and his speech was easily understandable and within normal limits for pace and rate. His answers repeated themes of distrust in authority figures and government systems, but his answers were also responsive to the questions asked. He expressed strong values in fighting for underrepresented and marginalized groups of people. Although he often brought up these themes, they never interfered with the conversation. He engaged in fluid and reciprocal conversation and purpose of the interview. He did not express any delusional (fixed, false) beliefs, appear to respond to internal stimuli, or otherwise present with any overt signs or symptoms of psychosis.

CONCLUSIONS

Brent Elisens is a 37-year-old man referred for an evaluation of his competence to proceed, specifically to include his competence to represent himself with standby counsel. This order includes charges from 2021 and 2022.

Mr. Elisens demonstrated a factual and rational understanding of the proceedings against him. He described the allegations against him and listed several of his legal charges. He understood he was facing a multi-year sentence if convicted. He spoke fluently about plea bargaining and described demonstrated clear understanding of the adversarial nature of the system. Although his interview reflected a very cynical and distrustful view of the criminal legal system, there is no indication his thinking was influenced by psychotic or non-reality based reasoning. In fact, his criticisms of the system are based in widely publicized critiques with a reality basis.

Mr. Elisens also demonstrated a rational understanding of his choice to proceed with standby counsel and a rational ability to assist defense counsel. He clearly articulated his choice, including that he does not want to proceed alone and wants to have standby counsel for two very specific reasons (legal advice for areas Mr. Elisens does not know and representation when Mr. Elisens is becoming too emotionally charged to maintain appropriate courtroom decorum). He acknowledged there are risks of self-representation, and indicated he feels strongly he wants his voice to be heard rather than have his perspective lost by agreeing to a plea bargain. He engaged in reciprocal conversation and communicated clearly in a logical and reality based manner.

2. In my court hearings following - I had ZERO OPPORTUNITY to present that to the current judges. I demanded my attorney present that to the court or get off my case. They filed motion to withdraw. After filing civil suit I was taken off of the Title XV incompetency docket. A mental health eval said I need stricter supervision, but instead now I am completely unsupervised on bail. Nothing they do or say aligns and they can only say "Brent mean, Brent angry, Brent no like state tyranny and seeing others suffer so he crazy or him criminal." They are liars and get away with it because they are employed by the state.

3. I demanded a jury trial in politician/boot worship, statist Maine. Probably a bad decision but I still stand a much better chance than with only suit ass profiteers and tyrants in the courtroom. Anyone that doesn't worship the state becomes a 'criminal' that way the only people allowed to be on the jury are voters, those that submit to obscene authority behind nationalist, symbolic garbage and dehumanize the others in their own social class. A prerequisite for being a juror is never having been victim of the police/court system. You cannot identify with those being exploited. You can identify as a cat or space station if you want, though. Yes, some people are guilty, but this system neither gets all the guilty nor safeguards the innocent from being wrongfully convicted. Jurors are also notoriously biased in many, MANY ways:

4. State employees have carte blanche with no repercussions or consequences to make up stories about people to have them incarcerated or involuntarily committed. American police and psychiatrists are nothing more than politician cocksockets. Police lie and misrepresent with impunity. Psychiatrists and prosecutors lie and misrepresent with impunity. Judges permit them to do so. Judges find any arbitrary wording they can to say "That video evidence magically doesn't count!" or "This case from 1971 says we can let our buttonmen off the hook!"

7. Bail a.k.a Kidnap for Ransom a.k.a Pay to Go Free.

Boot Martin didn't like being called a militant enforcer enforcing double standards. This was about my neighbors demanding they come out for this:

this(because he was the same boot from them calling the day previous), I was arrested for 'bail violation'. I hurt no one. Did nothing. Threatened no one. Wasted no social resources. I went to jail. Oh, such heroes.

The pickleback up top low-level state stooge ADA from earlier said I plead to the violation or they recommend another bail of $560 which I did not have, so I would be incarcerated because I did not have $560. Plead or rot in the box. Plead to get out of the box. Not surprising ~95% of criminal cases are resolved with plea deals. Pay to go free in prison/policing for profit America.

Boot Martin is a religious nationalist so you know he is State Police material to the max. How many people do you know that use the word facetious 5 times in a 20 minute trip? Pretentious, mentally defective Nazi. They should really be glad I am not who they try to make me out to be. Some people though, they don't have a conscience.

I use personal examples but though my situation has many unique elements, the premise is the same. Militant boots oppress the lower classes behind rich whims/wording, those being oppressed react, the boots scream victim and paint an absolutely false picture using certain elements of truth, then by the time the court remedies it(~4.9%) if at all - thousands of other people have been victimized by American police just 'doing their jobs' extorting and killing while doing photoshoots with puppies and children to curry public favor. The premise is often a situation created by the enforced system of purposeless cheap labor - social strife, street fights, drugs, bank robberies etc.

I submit, with massive amounts of evidence, that American police are domestic terrorists. Their leash-holding suit ass masters are obscene authority. You are out of line for worshiping either especially if you claim you care about others.

Especially if you claim to value life.

This final section is from people asking me, almost every time how I show their virtue signaling is garbage, what my solutions are. Here are some ideas:

In my previous books/writings I show how the United States, Russia, China, the UK, etc are global and domestic, corporate, authoritarian, war machine tyrants pushing their depraved existence on anything in their path and destroying all of life while conditioning their citizens to accept it and be proud of it. The state lies with politicians and propaganda(often while presenting factual figures) to keep the lower classes worshiping obscene authority, engaged in socially divisive activities with their peers, and bound in xenophobia. Xenophobia comes with nationalism. If you are ganged up whether you identify as Blood, Crip, Republican, Democrat, Chinese, or American - it's social division with those around you that are not part of the same label and are suffering at the same hands as you. There can be no peace with gangs that rely on the exploitation, domination, and/or control of others. If you learn to stand up for yourself and stop trying to control others, the obscene authority you rely on becomes obsolete. See how that works? No, because you probably still want the stars and stripes to keep asphyxiating you as that bald eagle dick is jackhammering your maxillofacial. What was that? You had an opinion about a social issue? Read books first, nationalist invalid.

Bonobos & chimps. Humans are chimps. Chimps are prone to violence, gangs, etc while bonobos are peaceful. The difference? Resource competition.

After presenting irrefutable evidence for american atrocities committed at home and globally, those that have the ability to change their views when valid evidence is presented always, ALWAYS follow up with some variant of "Well, what is your solution then?!" I explain to them that there is not 'a' solution(that leads to horrible places socially) and that their 'solutions' usually involve having rich people use police to exert their will on others while they continue their destructive behaviors, in efforts of mitigation vs resolution. They perpetuate social issues while claiming to want to solve them. This writing is the 'solutions' they ask for.

Extremely telling that all those that claim this is such a great nationalist boundary are always trying to fix it. Check that suicide rate compared to other countries/cultures. Basic needs held hostage for corporate state servitude is dehumanizing by default. XBoxes, personal vehicles, and snacks have them begging for master to select them to be the ones to work. If this society is going to continue with the numbers it has, there are things that must be done. A common, infantile response to industry and police tyranny needing to stop is "YOU go live in the stone/caveman age if you want! I like running water and being safe." That comment is personal luxury, false perception of reality, going to the opposite extreme, and apathy. People all over the planet, even their neighbors go without running water. Police do not keep us safe. They keep their rich masters' system safe while beating, killing, and exploiting us to do so. Ceasing industry does not mean we go all the way primitive. Clearly the commenter has no concern for the suffering of others. Personal luxury, false perception of reality, going to the opposite extreme, and apathy. When it comes to holding onto their trashheap, any irrational, junk cognition will do.

1. Basic needs separate from economy. Applying human pyramid scheme arbitrary values to actual, real world sustenance is not sustainable. Every single corporate hourly employee does negative labor. This means that they could not provide everything they enjoy/use daily if they worked all day, every day, for the rest of their lives. Doing tile/carpets over and over and over does not provide microwave, phone, vacuum, truck, house, etc. Think about all of the things required from parts to electricity to make the microwave function. Then do the same for all of the comforts and luxuries they exist with. Frightening how non-sustainable it is. The law of conservation of mass. There cannot be more than there was. Their waste, excess, and luxuries are someone else's deficit. Conveniently, they get to insulate themselves from those that have to carry the deficit. They also separate them from one another with socially divisive garbage. Humans have their one existence stolen by the corporate state while their peers make them feel like garbage if they don't allow it:

2. Industry must cease temporarily while it is refined. When a server is corrupted it is taken offline while the situation is remedied. A problem with current society is that they can't let their precious manufacturing, waste, and excess stop for even a moment. They want the bad things the state is doing to us to stop...after their personal comforts and luxuries are accounted for. Self first. Everyone that knows me, knows I am neither mentally nor physically lazy. I also refuse to do purposeless, environmentally destructive tasks. I use 3 gallons of water daily, no running water. I built an outhouse on top of my septic tank. I consume plant based things. I wear more clothes instead of running heat. When the power goes out, I do not turn on a generator. I do laundry by hand once a week which figures into that average of 3 gallons daily. I do not drive. It sucks sometimes, but the families of those 3700+ people killed daily understand my decision.

3. Stop voting. How many decades and police are still killing...the suicide rate is still ridiculous...school shootings haven't stopped...and you still clock your dumb ass in to keep it going, making/doing unnecessary and socially/environmentally destructive things. As they throw themselves $100 million parades and purchase $1200 fountain pens and $1700 plane tickets to fly their hat. Begging for masters is why society is so sick. No one act to stop injustice and suffering, just sign your name on a piece of paper and clock back in. No one act, just send an email to the local suit and then clock back in. No one act, just walk around with a sign. I am not advocating for vigilantes. I am advocating for self-defense regardless of the gang you claim. If you see others being beaten, killed, exploited, why would you NOT move to stop it? Fear & conditioning. Rich suits are not going to solve our social issues. They and their families depend on those social issues indirectly by depending on the construct that creates them. Stop begging them to solve those issues with their police and our taxed to death cheap labor.

4. Movies/television, golf, motorsports, junkmail, etc must cease. I am not singling those 'sports' out. They are the most environmentally destructive. Every day new movies and television shows. This is a severe waste of social resources utilized to dumb that social populous down. It is not sustainable. Fashion is one of the biggest environment killers. Celebrity worship is a problem, refer to number 3.

5. Countries need to get their military personnel out of other countries. We don't solve the disputes, we choose the side that aligns with our political/economic interest and then we fund & supply them. With the exploited cheap labor of our own citizens, of course. The United States was founded as an empire and will continue what it has invested so many innocent lives in, to keep its tyranny afloat & asoar. By sea & by air, Uncle Sam is coming to destroy a simple, one with nature culture near you. We have 750+ military bases around the world in over 80 countries. Russia has only around 40, China has 5. We exploit lower class countries and then put on a big show of humanitarian aid sending bibles and syringes instead of food and clean water.

Without religion and nationalism, most of our social problems would not exist!!!

6. Fear and security should not be 95% of your existence. In the United States everything revolves around both because that's how tyranny dominates. It isn't all whips and chains because psychological warfare is much more effective. Why do you think Jesus and Muhammed are still a thing? The state depends on junk cognition and when someone jumps their fresh to the planet head into a ridiculous imaginary world(Christianity, Islam, Republican, Democrat, etc) they hand their existence to the state. They then make up 'reasons' to justify their own exploitation. Police and society are similar to that domestic violence couple where the man beats and dominates the woman. You jump in to stop it and are hailed a hero, yet later she wants the familiar, the authoritarian tyranny, so she throws you under the bus and switches up saying you attacked him. The people around you(possibly you as well) are best described by the scene with the woman in the red dress where one main character explains to another main character that the doctors, lawyers, janitors, teachers, cashiers, etc are so hopelessly dependent on the system that they will die defending it, die to protect it. They will fight you and use any form of irrational thought that master handed them in order to do so. They will group up behind their master's nationalist and/or religious symbolism(all founded in fear) and incarcerate/kill you. Everyone claims they know history but their daily behaviors say they do not, or at least that they do not understand why events happened, they just rattle off names and dates. Social cycles continue. All socioeconomic systems boil us down to cheap labor, a commodity. We can exist together on the planet without what the corporate state is forcing us to currently do.

---

People that beg for rich masters have no right to complain and are in fact, the major barrier to the freedom they preach about. I do not beg for a master. Your master is attempting domination of free beings, such as myself, that don't participate in your paracosm. That is a major part of the problem. A bunch of lost and afraid individuals group up and agree with each other on how the rest of the planet should be dominated and exploited. They get badged, militant enforcers to suppress opposition. This leads to other groups forming resistance. Then some groups form resistance but add the same desire to control the planet. The parchment the 1776heads worship says you can abolish a tyrannical government but if you make a move to overthrow the government you get the FBI sending you to ADX. Obscene authority will use force once fear has failed. Separately but related, I submit that most debilitating and not so debilitating mental health issues would be non-existent were this construct not forced on and around us. Psychiatric facilities should be for those who absolutely need it, not for state punishment to silence opposition or as a never-ending, unsuccessful mitigation for system symptoms.

7. Remove government intervention in family matters(marriage, custody, etc) excluding the severe abuse cases. There can be a group to handle mediations without extorting revenue and dividing the family to keep generating revenue behind symbolic garbage and virtue signaling. Who generates more revenue, a man that works and provides for his family or a man that works and pays the mother of his children while the state gets a cut? How many people are paying child support? $34 BILLION was owed in child support in 2015. $2 per transaction plus $35 annually adds up. 83% of children in single parent homes live with the mother. You cannot read that and say that child support is not a method of forced male labor. Yes it is forced. Some people say something to the effect of "no one held a gun to their head!" but as I state often, ultimatum labor is not voluntary employment. Correct that there is no Uncle T is standing over him with a whip or a rifle however, if he doesn't do the purposeless labor and pays the state its $2 per month, $35 annually, and the arbitrary amount to the mother, he goes to jail where he will do the labor for free making uniforms, license plates, or other things that fund national wars. Child support based on income helps the poorest lower class fathers, but it also means that children with rich fathers get a lavish existence while those in the lower class remain there.

8. Basic needs distribution. Slaves say no one will work while they themselves do negative labor. Humans made it a long time without working for rich masters. All we need is food, water, cool air or warmth, medical attention when seriously required, and shelter. Look around you at how many things are excess and waste. 115,526 retail food stores in the United States. Then 660,936 restaurants. Then hunters. Then edible wildlife destroyed by machines. Then farmland that is used instead for golf courses. There are more empty homes than homeless. That is a disgusting amount of waste when many don't have adequate sustenance on this planet. Basic needs for everyone first, then you can play your fucking PlayStation. Everyone means everyone, not just your group, your clan, your nationality, your label.
